A Settlement With Russia?

High-level diplomacy is looking beyond the cease-fire in Korea toward the possibility of a settlement with Russia.

I heard this discussed over Sunday morning breakfast coffee by well-informed representatives attached to the United Nations in New York.

This idea began with Stalin's death.

There has never been much doubt, in their minds, that a truce would come in Korea. The only bar, as they saw it, was that American policy might become too rigid or inflexible to permit a cease-fire. It was obvious after Stalin's passing that both China and Russia had agreed to seek a truce.

But, while negotiators were trying to reach accord, the Chiang Kai-shek lobby in the United States Congress attached a rider to an appropriations bill which would have required this country to halt all payments to the UN in the event Red China was granted membership. Only the President's personal prestige defeated it. Still pending is the Bricker amendment which would strip any president of all rights to make agreements and commitments with foreign nations. This would reduce the government of the United States to the indecisive impotence which paralyzes foreign policy in France.

Weakness

All these, as well as other attempts to make rigid our attitude toward Red China and Russia, contain a fatal weakness. They ignore the fact that conditions may change drastically in the months and years ahead and the best interests and security of this country may require decisions impossible under the "for life" jail term to which the isolationists seek to commit foreign policy with themselves as jailers and turnkeys.

Let us assume, for example, that a truce in Korea is followed by an agreement in Southeast Asia and that Red China modifies her attitude into one of less belligerent attitude and ceases to be a puppet pulled by strings from the Kremlin.

All this may never come about. But, if it should, then the best interests of this nation might well dictate that the Peiping government be admitted. Again, if Mao Ts-tung should die, and there should follow on the part of the succeeding regime a change of direction as we have seen in Moscow since Stalin's death, there might then be a very strong reason to admit the government to the UN.

In other words, to allow prejudices now to make hard and fast decisions which ignore what the future may bring is not good sense.

Churchill

As for the Russians, they remain pretty much a mystery. But, they are reversing many of the formally rigid rules of Stalin. As Sir Winston Churchill said in his speech to the House of Commons some days ago, these changes "have so far taken the form of leaving off doing things to us which we have not been doing to them. "It is, therefore," he added dryly, "difficult to find specific cases with which we can match their actions."

At any rate, the situation leads many observers to believe Russian developments will make possible a "settlement." It would always be an uneasy one, and it would never be a full "settlement." It would continue strained and challenging. But, if attained, it might in time become manageable.

So, even though the truce will be followed by guerrilla violence and the ROKs may violate its terms, the hope is that from a truce we may proceed to a Korean peace and then to the "Big Four" meetings, held at the highest level without large staffs, and begin the business of some sort of settlement with the Russians. Surely, even Syngman Rhee must see that only an all-out military campaign of vast proportions, can "unite" Korea for him. The old patriot's enemies have long called him "the Donkey of Korea," and he now puts a great strain on his friends.

Deadlock Delays Ruling on School Segregation Issue

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, June 8—The U. S. Supreme Court ruled today that restaurants in the District of Columbia may not legally refuse to serve meals to Negroes who are well-behaved.

In five cases involving segregation in public schools, the high court was not able to reach a decision. The cases were set for reargument in the fall.

The court held valid in the restaurant case a statute enacted in 1873 that made it a criminal act for proprietors of public eating places to refuse to serve any person solely because of race or color.

The ruling was by vote of 8-to-0, with Justice Jackson abstaining because he had been ill and did not hear the argument.

Rearguments on the school segregation cases were set for Oct. 12, one week after the court reconvenes for the fall term. The present term will end next Monday.

The school segregation cases were argued last December and in the intervening six months have been the outstanding issue facing the justices, who were reported to be hopelessly divided on matters of law and public policy involved.

In setting them for reargument the court indicated the nature and degree of its perplexities by asking counsel to discuss five spe-

Ridgway Scores Air Weakness

ROQUENCOURT, June 8—General Ridgway, supreme Allied commander in Europe, sharply warned the 14 North Atlantic treaty nations today that air power "is still today the weakest link in our defense."

"In spite of our progress," declared the Army chief of staff-designate, "our air forces could not adequately carry out their tasks. The increase of air power must receive far greater attention by the NATO nations."

4,000-WORD REPORT

Ridgway, who will hand over supreme command on July 13 to General Gruenther, his staff chief, included his warning on Allied air weakness in a 4,000-word annual report covering the build-up of Allied defenses in the year since May 30, 1952, when he first assumed supreme command. He left no doubts as to grave continuing weaknesses in such defenses in the face of steadily improving Soviet military forces.

His strictures on the lagging build-up in Allied air power moreover caused wide interest here in view of public debate now going on in the United States over the Eisenhower administration's proposals to slash the U. S. Air Force budget for next year.

AVOIDS CRITICIZING IKE

Ridgway avoided even a semblance of criticizing President Eisenhower but many of his senior commanders are known to fear that if the U. S. Air Force is cut back, the ultimate effects will be felt in the NATO air program in Europe. Ridgway is known to dispose of not more than about 2,500 combat-worthy planes today, out of the Allied minimum requirement of 10,500 and the known Soviet air force of more than 20,000 combat craft.

"Within the strictly military field," Ridgway reported to his Allied superiors in the standing group, "I find the disparity between our available forces and

Senate Unit Adds To Ag Fund Bill

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee today approved an Agriculture Department appropriation bill calling for $716,729,768 for the year starting July 1. This is $3,981,940 more than was voted by the House late last month.

The committee bill calls for 13 million dollars more than the Eisenhower administration had asked but about 33 million dollars less than President Truman had requested.

$2,000 Fines Levied After Gaming Raid

Constitution State News Service

FAYETTEVILLE, June 8—Operators of a gambling house which state revenue officers raided here May 23, seizing chips which represented an estimated $50,000, have been allowed to enter pleas of "nolo contendere" and have been fined a total of $2,000, The Constitution learned Monday.

Superior Court Judge Chester Byars received a plea of nolo contendere (I am unwilling to contend) from Johnny O. Tyler, charged with operating "The Pines" near the Clayton County line, over the written and verbal protests of Sol. Gen. John Flynt, who urged that Tyler be held for action of the grand jury.

Judge Byars fined Tyler $1,000 on charges of operating a gambling house, said by revenue agents to have been the biggest place of its kind raided in Georgia in four years; $500 on charges of possessing untax-paid whiskey and $250 on charges of possessing gambling devices. Two Negroes, Grady H. Warner and Jimmy Horton, were fined $125 each, on charges of possessing untax-paid whisky.

Judge Byars also issued a temporary injunction to restrain Tyler from operating a gambling house, maintaining gambling devices or possessing untax-paid whisky.

Twister Toll Feared 70 in Ohio, Mich.

Hundreds Injured In Storm Series

BOWLING GREEN, O., June 8 (AP)—A series of tornadoes—possibly a dozen in number — smashed through parts of Michigan and Ohio tonight. At least 70 persons were feared dead and several hundred injured.

More than 40 persons were reported killed in Southern Michigan. The fatalities in Northwestern Ohio may number 30.

Michigan state police reported 31 persons known dead in the wake of eight tornadoes. Ohio state highway patrolmen counted 11 known dead and feared there were many more, mostly in Wood County, a rural section.

COUNT 35 DEAD

Reporters for the Flint Journal said they counted 35 dead around that Michigan city.

More than 100 persons were reported injured in the Flint area alone.

Four—maybe five—were killed near Erie, just north of Toledo, Ohio. Three more were killed at Columbiaville, in the Michigan "Thumb" and one died in a twister near Ann Arbor.

As the winds swept through Northern Ohio and touched or skirted a number of communities—including populous Cleveland, where two were killed—the U. S. Weather Bureau in Buffalo warned they may reach Western New York before being spent.

The Buffalo bureau warned of wind gusts in excess of 65 miles an hour and said "it is even possible that a tornado may occur."

The U. S. Coast Guard in Buffalo warned all vessels to stay out of Eastern Lake Erie. Tornadoes have hit Western Lake Erie.

In Ohio, the tornadoes blew heavy trucks off roads, smashed rural homes into firewood, and felled trees in a 100-yard wide area.

FAMILY HIT

The Wood County twister killed five or six members of one family and injured the sixth.

The highway patrol listed the dead as Mrs. Flossie Kline, 36, and her children, Jerry Lee, 14; Linda Lou, 11; Gale, 9; and Keith, 3. Seriously injured was Harry Kline, the husband and father.

They lived northeast of Cygnet, a tiny community off U. S. route 25, about 15 miles south of Bowling Green.

The prediction that 30 died in the Ohio tornadoes near Bowling Green were made by a newsman.

Dick Moorehead, news editor of the Findlay, O., Republican-Courier said:

"I wouldn't be surprised that there are 30 persons dead."

At least four persons were killed in the first tornadoes, which struck in Southern Michigan in the Eire area.

Senate Extends Ike's War Transit Powers

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—The Senate today passed and sent to the House legislation extending the President's power to give shipments of troops and war materials top transportation priority in time of war or national emergency.

The bill would extend the President's authority until six months after the end of the Korean War emergency.

U. S. MPs Repel Seoul Mob As Hordes Denounce Truce; Delegates Prepare to Sign

Crowd Halts Before Hose, GI Bayonets

SEOUL, Tuesday, June 9 (AP)—Hundreds of thousands of Koreans demonstrated feverishly in Seoul today against an armistice. One tremendous crowd surged against a roadblock at Eighth Army headquarters compound.

MANY HURT

Many Koreans were hurt in the pushing and shoving crowd.

Some authorities estimated the crowds as large as 500,000—about half of the population of this war-rubbled republic capital.

The demonstrators, ranging from weeping schoolgirls to sullen adults in tattered clothes, shouted, grimaced and waved placards as they marched through the streets.

SHOPS CLOSED

All Seoul's shops were closed as the government called for a show of sentiment against any pact with the Reds.

Republic of Korea leaders vowed yesterday to continue the war despite any armistice.

Then for more than 30 minutes, they shouted in unison: "March north for unification—use arms to unify the country."

Many of the girls had slips of paper from which they read what they shouted.

Cease-Fire Line Is Final Minor Detail

By RUTHERFORD POATS

TOKYO, Tuesday, June 9 (AP)—The Korean truce negotiators met for 12 minutes today to iron out final details of an armistice agreement and then recessed until 11 a. m. tomorrow (9 p. m. Tuesday EST) by "mutual agreement."

Allied and Communist delegates already were discussing the armistice ceremony, and staff officers of both sides have started work on new sets of maps pinpointing Allied and Communist positions along the 155-mile battlefront.

NEW MAPS

New maps will be necessary before a new "line of demarcation" can be decided upon to replace the one that expired in December, 1951.

Today's truce session, like recent ones in which the prisoner of war issue was resolved, was held in secret, but it was known that only minor details remain to be worked out.

The meeting began on schedule at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. Monday EST).

Staff officers of both sides met in secret at 11:30 a. m. to discuss "administrative matters."

The surveying of the new line was the only item that might take a little time, authorities said. A line was drawn on Nov. 27, 1951, and has changed little.

Study of the 63 paragraphs of the draft armistice showed the cease-fire line as the outstanding matter to be revised.

CEREMONIES SET

With the line precisely drawn, both sides would fall back from it two kilometers, or a mile and a quarter, to establish the demilitarized zone between the two armies. That would be done within 72 hours of the armistice signing. The shooting would stop 12 hours after the signing.

Authorities disclosed that plans already were being made for the ceremonies. Clark will sign for the United Nations, Premier-Gen. Kim Il Sung for North Korea, and Gen. Peng Teh-Huai for the Chinese Communists.

Keep Arms After Truce, Wilson Aim

By HAROLD B. HINTON
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, June 8—Secretary of Defense Wilson warned Congress today against any whittling down of the national military establishment as the result of a truce in Korea.

"I am going to recommend we stay where we are," he said to a Senate appropriations subcommittee under chairmanship of Senator Ferguson (Rep., Mich.).

Recalling previous rapid demobilizations he has witnessed, Wilson said "we were wrong after World War I and wrong after World War II and we oughtn't to do it again."

His appearance before the subcommittee today was intended as a rebuttal of complaints made before it last week by General Vandenberg, retiring Air Force Chief of Staff, over a cut of $5,090,000,000 in new appropriations the Eisenhower administration has proposed below the level recommended by President Truman before he retired. General Vandenberg recommended that about $4,000,000,000 of this sum be restored.

The revised defense estimates President Eisenhower has sent to the Capitol would provide, in new appropriations (in round figures), $11,700,000,000 for the Air Force, compared with $16,800,000,000 in the Truman budget; $11,100,000,000 plus $2,500,000,000 in hitherto unbudgeted funds for prosecution of

Reds Bomb Seoul, Miss Rhee's Home

SEOUL, Tuesday, June 9 (AP)—The Red Air Force chose an hour when a truce seemed near for their biggest raid of the war on Seoul Monday, dropping a bomb near President Syngman Rhee's home, killing two persons and injuring eight.

Nine Red planes, all believed to be slow propeller jobs, swept in low from the northwest by night, hit Seoul with four bombs and dropped bombs near an airfield nearby.

While radar had picked them up, they came in low and dropped the first bomb near Rhee's residence—which may have been their prime objective — while Seoul's lights still blazed. The first bomb hit 1,000 yards from Rhee's home and a second struck a school building from 300 to 400 yards away.

Seoul was blacked out quickly, and anti-aircraft guns cut loose with barrages, but the Fifth Air Force said all the raiders escaped.

One of the 250-pound bombs that hit the capital struck near the Eighth Army press billets, narrowly missing a crowd of correspondents. One of the eight injured was an American, Michael Rougier, Life magazine photographer, who was cut slightly on the leg by flying glass.

Rhee was reading in the presidential mansion near the capitol when the first bomb hit. A secretary said the President was calm and unruffled.

Kaufman Denies Rosenbergs Stay

NEW YORK, June 8—(AP)—Pleas for a stay of execution and a new trial for atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg were denied in federal court today, only 10 days before the couple is scheduled to die in Sing Sing prison's electric chair.

Judge Irving Kaufman, who originally sentenced the Rosenbergs to die more than two years ago, refused an application for a new trial, which was based on claims that new evidence had been found.

Naming Pig Malenkov Is Declared No Crime

FRANKFURT, Germany, June 8—(AP)—West German police decided today it's no crime to name a pig Malenkov and freed an anti-Communist Russian refugee who did it.

The story started yesterday when officials of the Soviet military mission telephoned to complain that a pig with "Malenkov" painted on his back in big red letters was wandering in their garden.

Police picked up a 23-year-old anti-Communist refugee and held both him and his pig in jail overnight. They let both go today with no charges filed.

MacArthur, Hoover Join Ike's Guests

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover and Gen. Douglas MacArthur were among the guests at a private dinner party given by President Eisenhower in the White House tonight.

In announcing the affair, Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said it had been arranged several weeks ago.

Other guests on the list included Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York; Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. representative to the United Nations; Secretary of State Dulles; Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey; Secretary of Labor Durkin; Dr. Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother; Edward L. Ryerson, Chicago iron and steel manufacturer; Lessing J. Rosenwald, Philadelphia philanthropist; Henry D. Collier, San Francisco oil executive, and Palmer Hoyt, publisher of the Denver Post.

More Heat Due; Thundershowers Are Not Unlikely

The weatherman said Tuesday's expected temperature range is 70 to 88 degrees with a high of 90 seen for Wednesday following an early morning low of 72. Atlanta rainfall was measured at .03 inches for Monday.

De Gasperi's Party Appears Certain Of Victory; Majority Uncertain

ROME, Tuesday, June 9 (AP) — Italy's pro-American center coalition government appeared assured of victory early today in the national election, although running just short of an absolute majority.

It was a nip-and-tuck battle, with the government's control of Parliament at stake.

Small, independent splinter parties, drawing about 3 per cent of the vote and not appearing in unofficial national tabulations, appeared to be the margin blocking the government from a majority over the combined opposition.

The Monarchists and neo-Fascists on the extreme right were surging ahead of their showing in the 1948 general election, while the government coalition was running behind that year's totals.

The strength of the Communists, augmented by pro-Red Socialists, was slightly up.

Unofficial percentage figures, based on 7,094,168 votes out of a total of 26,280,800 (officially corrected in the Senate elections, were:

Government center coalition, 49.7 per cent.

Communists and fellow-traveling Socialists, 32.7.

Monarchists and Neo-Fascists, 13.9.

Others, 3.7.

Signs that the government was worried appeared when the Interior Ministry released no returns for more than an hour. A promise to give an up-to-date national figure was postponed repeatedly.

If the government bloc receives 50.01 per cent or more of the vote for the Chamber of Deputies, it is entitled to 64.5 per cent of the Chamber seats. The Chamber voting normally follows the pattern of the Senate vote.

If the far left and far right together control a majority of the seats, they could block government bills and end seven years of parliamentary stability. Under the government of Premier Alcide de Gasperi, the country has enjoyed the highest standard of living in its history.

A smashing 93.86 per cent of those eligible to vote streamed to the polls. It was believed to be a record for a free election in the free world and even topped the 92.1 per cent polled in 1948 when a Communist bid for power was hurled back by the Christian Democrats.

With 6,844,168 of the estimated 28,408,681 votes in the Senate election counted, the government bloc had a combined total of 3,531,494, a majority of 218,820 over the combined opposition. The Communists and their pro-Red fellow travelers had a total of 2,323,562, and the Monarchists and neo-Fascists had a total of 989,112.

These figures, the latest available at 3:40 a.m. (10:40 p.m. Monday, Atlanta time) gave the government 51.6 per cent of the total.

SHARES WORKER'S LUNCH

Night-Prowling Lion Proves Docile Captive

HOUSTON, Texas, June 8—(AP)—A woman drove into the service station where Edward G. Gibler is employed about 3:30 a. m. today and screamed: "There's a lion coming down the street. Call the police!"

Gibler, 26, turned around, grinning skeptically. He gasped.

The lion—turned out later to be a 7-month-old, 75-pound lioness—was stalking into the station, dragging a chain.

The woman drove away, still screaming, "Call the police." Gibler did. Then he sat down to eat his lunch.

The lioness looked wistful. He offered her part of his bologna and cheese sandwich. She took it. Very dainty, Gibler said.

Humane Officer Norman McClees arrived. He tugged on the chain. The lioness didn't move. She yawned.

McClees picked her up in his arms and loaded her into a cage in his truck. The lioness purred—"kind of loud purr."

After some checking at the dog pound, McClees called Abe Jamail of the Congo Jungle Night Club. Jamail arrived and told McClees the lioness was kept in a house by the night club parking lot.

Jamail patted the seat of his car. "Here, girl," he said. The lioness jumped up beside him and settled down happily.

Don't Rock Truce Boat, Knowland Warns Rhee

Capitol Backing Eisenhower On Peace, Senator Asserts

By WILLIAM S. WHITE
New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, June 8—President Syngman Rhee of South Korea was warned today by one of his country's most powerful and steadfast friends in Congress that any action by him to upset the Korean truce would not be tolerated here.

Senator Knowland (Calif.), chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee and acting Senate floor leader, gave that notice to Rhee in a speech making it plain that on this issue President Eisenhower would be fully supported at the Capitol.

Knowland, who has been at the forefront of a congressional group that has objected in the past to nearly every concession offered to the Communists in the long negotiations, had his say almost at the instant the Senate opened its session at noon.

"IN THE BEGINNING . . ." William Faulkner

SENTIMENTS ECHOED

His sentiments were echoed, in public or in private, by other senators. He told Rhee that anything that hampered the truce would "endanger the security" of United States and other United Nations forces there and "cannot and must not be allowed to happen."

He did not discuss the alternative, but Senator Green (Dem., R. I.), asserted that the UN had undertaken only to defend South Korea, which had been done. And he added that "by the same reasoning" if the South Koreans should now attack the North Koreans "the United Nations should undertake to defend the country attacked."

Senator Wiley (Rep., Wis.), chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, declined to attempt to "present a conclusive judgment on the truce," but made it entirely clear that he had little faith in Communist promises.

"HOPE AND PRAYER"

"Be that as it may," he said in connection with this latter point, "it is our hope and prayer that the truce will serve the cause of world peace.

"We must be vigilant, however, to a greater extent than ever before, if we are to make sure that the Communists do not misuse the truce agreement as they have misused every other agreement which they have ratified."

Knowland's brief, sharp speech stirred extraordinary interest in light of the fact that he had for years been a leading spokesman for a "hard" policy against Asian communism and a bitter critic of much that the UN had done in the Korean discussions.

"I DON'T BELIEVE SO"

Only last week, on the Mutual radio program Reporter's Roundup he had been asked: "Is this a truce with honor," and had replied: "I don't believe so."

He spoke, in short, as perhaps the most consistent backer in the Senate of the South Korean cause and as one who had warned of any "Munich," or act of appeasement, in that theater.

"It is my considered judgment, as a long-time friend of the Republic of Korea and as one who has a personal admiration for President Syngman Rhee in the leadership he has furnished his people, that any action that would endanger the truce about to be consummated would be detrimental to the people of the Republic of Korea, including the security of the forces this country has in that nation. This cannot and must not be allowed to happen," Knowland said.

Widow, 19, Says Husband Made Her Kill Him

Claiborne County Sheriff Dan Chumley said Thelma Keck, expecting the birth of a third child, shot her husband, 28, with a .22-caliber rifle.

She said her husband, who had been drinking, came home with the rifle in one hand, a butcher knife in the other. She said he placed the rifle against his chest, and threatened to slash her throat with the knife unless she pulled the trigger.

Minister's Trousers Stolen as He Baptizes Flock: Called Inside Job

FORT WORTH, Texas, June 8—(AP)—Everyone gathered at the river last night except a fellow who sneaked over to the Pastor's study and stole the minister's wallet and trousers while he was in the baptismal pool.

The Rev. Arizona Briscoe, assistant pastor of the Negro Rising Star Baptist Church, was wearing his "baptismal clothes" and standing waist-deep in water when the thief struck.

"I got all dried off and then I discovered my pants were gone," he said. "I pulled on my underwear and went on back down the stairs where the congregation was waiting."

He stuck his head through the door and spread the news. Church members found his pants and billfold in the alley. Brisco said $81 was missing.

"It was an inside job," he said. "Everybody knew I carried a lot of money. And they knew I was in the pool."

Anti-Seizure Amendment Okayed by Senate Group

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, June 8—The Senate judiciary committee approved today a proposed amendment to the Constitution to forbid the seizure of private property "at any time" except by act of Congress.

The resolution was inspired by opposition to former President Truman's seizure of the steel industry to halt a strike in the spring of 1952. The President contended that he acted pursuant to his emergency powers as chief executive.

The Supreme Court overruled him, saying "the power of Congress to adopt such public policies as those proclaimed in the (seizure) order is beyond question. It can authorize the taking of private property for public use . . . the Constitution does not subject this law-making power of Congress to presidential or military supervision or control . . ."

Senator McCarran, Democrat of Nevada, chairman of the judiciary committee, said the proposed resolution "does no more than make perfectly clear what is and should be the correct interpretation of the existing provisions of the Constitution."

The court voted 6 to 3 in the steel seizure case, demonstrating a divided opinion on the executive's emergency powers. The proposed amendment would leave little if any room for doubt. It read:

"The executive power of the United States shall not be construed to extend at any time to any taking of private property other than by act of Congress." The committee added a provision that the proposal would become inoperative unless approved by legislatures of two-thirds of the states within seven years.

The judiciary committee approved a similar resolution a year ago after the steel seizure. When it was passed over on the Senate calendar in June, Senator McCarran moved that the Senate consider it. A motion to table his motion carried by a vote of 42 to 32.

Only Man Can Decide Future, Says Faulkner

WELLESLEY, Mass., June 8—(AP)—Nobel Prize-winning author William Faulkner said today only man can complete the earth so that he can say "we made it, and it works."

"It is not only man's high destiny, but proof of his immortality too, that his is the choice between ending the world, effacing it from the long annal of time and space, and completing it."

EQUIPMENT GIVEN

"In the beginning, God created the earth," Faulkner said. "He created it completely furnished for men. Then he created man completely equipped to cope with the earth, by means of free will and the capacity for decision. Then God stopped.

"It was not an experiment. God didn't merely believe in man, he knew man."

The Creator demanded of man "only that we work to deserve and gain these things—liberty, freedom of the body and spirit both, security for the weak and helpless and peace and freedom for all," Faulkner said.

"But almost at once we began to show that we were not going to do this," he added. "That apparently we really preferred to achieve our destiny in the litter of our baseness.'

SHOWS WRONG

God uses the "ambition, the ruthlessness and arrogance" of Genghis and Caesar, Hitler, Stalin and Bonaparte and Huey Long," Faulkner said, "to show man what to revolt against."

But mankind also has had "the long annal of the men and women who have anguished over man's condition" he said.

These and "the philosophers and artists" he added "can only show us how, not lead us, since to be led, we must surrender our free will and our capacity and right to make decisions out of our own personal soul."

He called on the graduates to "break ourselves of thinking in the terms foisted on us by the split-offs of that old dark spirit's ambition and ruthlessness: the empty clanging terms of 'nation' and 'fatherland' or 'race' or 'color' or 'creed.' We need only work for what we want and deserve here."

Faulkner was awarded the Nobel Prize for literature in 1949.

Eden Rests Well In Boston Clinic

BOSTON, June 8—(AP)—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden was reported in satisfactory condition today at Lahey Clinic where he is awaiting surgery for a gall bladder ailment.

The clinic's daily bulletin, signed by Dr. Frank B. Cattell, reported Eden had a "restful night." It said a decision will shortly be made as to the time of the operation.

Actress Looking Like Eva Gets Title Role

BUENOS AIRES, June 8—(AP)—French actress Andree Debar, a blonde who looks like Eva Peron, will play the title role in a film on the life of President Peron's late wife.

The actress said today Peron has approved her selection. Most of the picture will be made in Argentina, starting in November or December.

Reds Pledge Austria To Free Traffic

Periodic Checks On Personnel Set

By JOHN MacCORMAC
New York Times News Service Special to The Atlanta Constitution

VIENNA, June 8—Soviet occupation authorities in Austria announced tonight that from tomorrow they would drop their permanent control of the movement of Austrian citizens and private and commercial vehicular traffic in and out of their zone.

They said the movement of Austrian personnel would be checked only "periodically when it proves necessary" and that truck traffic would be controlled only "in so far as necessary to prevent the importation of weapons, munitions and explosives into the Soviet zone, as well as export of dismounted factory machinery out of the Soviet zone."

This was the wording of the first announcement made by the Soviet Information Service, but an hour later it asked that the phrase about the factory machinery be deleted. The phrase referred to the well known fact that factory owners in the Soviet zone have sought every opportunity to transfer their plants to Western Austria and that the Soviet has done its best to stop them.

Tonight's concession to Austrian public opinion followed yesterday's announcement that the Russians would copy the example set three years ago by the Western powers by transferring political representation in Austria from the military to a civilian high commissioner.

Adolph Schaerf, Socialist vice chancellor, recalled that the removal of all such controls was supposed to have followed six months after the conclusion of an Austrian control agreement in 1946 and that it had actually been carried out by the British, French and United States authorities.

'Mad Major' Faces 8 Charges

LONDON, June 8—(AP)—Christopher Draper, 61-year-old "Mad Major" who thrilled and chilled Londoners last month when he flew his plane under 15 bridges spanning the Thames, today was served with eight summonses for dangerous flying.

Draper, a retired army officer, was ordered to appear in court July 6 to answer the charges of flying an aircraft in such a manner as to endanger persons and property. His pilot license has been revoked.

He faces a fine or possible jail term if convicted.

Nehru Lauds Eisenhower, Peiping on Truce Move

LONDON, June 8—(AP)—India's Prime Minister Nehru today praised both President Eisenhower and the Chinese Communists for moving toward a Korean truce.

"I think President Eisenhower has a great deal of credit for this armistice when it comes," Nehru told a news conference. "I think also that the Chinese People's Communist government deserves great credit."

Diplomats here hailed the imminent truce as a triumph for Indian diplomacy since the prisoner of war agreement signed in Panmunjom was based largely on Indian suggestions which that country pushed both in the United Nations and Peiping.

Nehru said the agreement may not mean the end of all troubles in Korea and elsewhere.

Nehru also offered his congratulations to the British government and said it had played "a most important part" in Korean negotiations, "especially in the last stages."

Replying to questions, Nehru said he believed that with a Korean truce the prospect of Red China's admission to the UN would be "much better."

Nehru is attending a conference of British Commonwealth premiers which began after the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II last Tuesday.

On April 30, 1936, Walter R. Thomas opened his first jewelry store at 104 Whitehall Street in Atlanta, Georgia. Within the first year this small store, which measures 13 feet by 24 feet, was doing the largest business per square foot, according to records available, of any store in the United States.
In 1937 Mr. Thomas opened his second store at 2 Edgewood Avenue, and in 1940 bought out the old Myron E. Freeman store at 103 Peachtree Street.
From the small beginning on Whitehall Street, Walter R. Thomas Enterprises have now grown to twenty-one stores and the Atlanta Wholesale Jewelry Company. Twelve of these stores are located in the city of Atlanta.
The following is the code upon which the success of these stores is founded:
"Dedicated . . . To build a business that will never know completion, but that will advance continually to meet advancing conditions . . . To develop stocks and service to a notable degree . . . To create a personality that will be known for its strength and friendliness . . . To arrange and coordinate activities to the end of winning confidence by meriting it . . . FIVE AGNES SCOTT SENIORS ARE GRADUATED WITH HIGH HONOR

Seniors graduating with high honors were Belle Miller, 1424 Fairview Rd., N. E.; Ellen Hunter, New Orleans, La.; Rosalyn Kenneday, Meridian, Miss.; Priscilla Sheppard, Laurens, S. C., and Margaret Thomason, Copperhill, Tenn.

The coveted Hopkins jewel for the senior most nearly meeting the ideals of the late Miss Nannette Hopkins, dean of college from 1889 to 1938, went to Mary Beth Robinson, Auburn, Ala.

Betty Jacks, Decatur sophomore, will receive full tuition for the next year as winner of the Collegiate Scholarship awarded to the nonsenior attaining the highest general proficiency in academic work.

Awards were also presented to Ann Gregory, Winston-Salem, N. C., best freshman academic record; Betty Jo Kelley, 1382 Westboro Dr., voice scholarship; Barbara Johnston, 52 Russell St., N. E., mathematics prize; Belle Miller, 1424 Fairview Rd., N. E., Louise McKinney Book Award, and Sue Born, Pensacola, Fla., Jodele Tanner Science Scholarship Award.

The graduates are:

U. S. Workers Seek Transit Finance Facts

Two federal employees, who said they represent 600 government workers, filed a request with the Georgia Public Service Commission Monday for information about the Atlanta Transit Co.'s financial affairs.

The federal workers, Emory J. Kinney and Harry P. Cooper of the Veterans Administration regional office, are opposing the company's request for a fare increase.

A second hearing on the company's petition to increase its fares is scheduled before the Public Service Commission Friday, at which time company officials will be cross-examined by city and PSC experts.

Kinney and Cooper said they want the information to refute the company's arguments for a fare increase and to protect the interests of themselves and their friends.

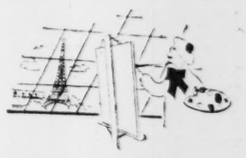
Today on Peachtree

Tale of Three Cities

This morning, "Today on Peachtree" hop-scotches the Atlantic, capsules some 150 years, to bring you this strange tale of three cities:



Paris. . . early 1800

Our story opens in a Paris just catching its breath after the turbulence of ten years of Revolution. In a skylit studio up five flights, a distinguished young Frenchman is brushing in the final strokes on an oil portrait. For the next 150 years, a curtain of silence and mystery is drawn over the painting. We can only guess that it passed from museum to museum, owner to owner. Until . . . in 1952 our Corner Shop globetrotter, Jeannette Burns, happened on it in a musty old warehouse outside Paris. The painting, supposedly by an artist of the LeBrun school, showed a girl in the bloom of youth, dressed in 18th Century French fashion, with long curls caught with a blue velvet bandeau. Jeannette bought it and brought it home to the Corner Shop.

Atlanta . . . late 1952

Seven months ago, Mr. Joseph E. Moore, prosperous citizen of Houston, Texas, was in Atlanta on a business trip. He came browsing in the Corner Shop one afternoon, was enchanted with the portrait; bought it for $395.

Houston . . . early 1953

Back in Houston with his treasured painting, Mr. Moore toted it to the Museum of Fine Arts for expert cleaning. The Museum's Conservator peered closely at the portrait, pointed out that the lower part was a different and much finer technique than the head, and apparently by a different artist. In great excitement, he whipped out a bottle of cleansing solution and began a tedious, 6-weeks, face-washing. Gradually, bit by bit, flake by flake, the 1800 Flapper disappeared. Instead, was the superb likeness of a stern, handsome Frenchwoman in her late sixties AND a startling discovery: the original artist's signature: Johannes Josephus Nicholaus DeLin, well-known painter of portraits and religious subjects, whose work hangs in Museums and Cathedrals all over France. Art experts at the Houston Museum conservatively estimate the value of the painting at $2,000, which nets Mr. Moore a nice, plump 500% on his investment.

P. S. Like most stories, our "Tale of Three Cities" has a moral: Davison's Corner Shop is mighty rich prospecting-ground — and you don't need any Geiger Counter to strike a good investment.

Rhee Is Driving Hard Bargain, Too

The stubborn attitude of South Korean President Syngman Rhee and the ROK government concerning the truce in Korea presents the United States and the UN with a knotty problem.

Rhee's stubbornness probably can be attributed to a desire to secure the best bargain possible even though he cannot prevent a truce. He is out to get the best guarantees possible from the United States and other UN members, including pledges of security against aggression and aid grants in rebuilding his shattered country.

Desperate last-minute efforts to prevent a truce, of course, stem from Rhee's desire to force the UN to complete unification of Korea through military measures. Since the truce talks have been going on for upward of two years, this sudden urgency seems a trifle ridiculous.

Achievement of a truce in Korea will be the first step in realizing the United States and UN objectives in intervening in the war. We did not enter the dispute to conquer territory nor to unite divided Korea by force. We did intervene to prevent aggression and to establish security for the South Korean republic.

President Syngman Rhee knows this as he knows that he cannot carry on a successful war against the Chinese and North Koreans without UN support. Although he may continue to give trouble for a while, even to the extent of trying to prolong the war, his eventual acceptance of United States and UN guarantees would seem to be in order. His supplies, munitions, and even food must come from the United States.

If the truce leads to successful ending of the Korean War, it will mark the first time in modern history that a war has been settled by negotiation—perhaps because neither side could afford the price of victory. That new factor offers hope for further successful negotiations, even to eventual unification of the entire Korean peninsula.

After all those sacrifices, most guarantees that Rhee seems to want would seem to be a matter of course. South Korea will be no less important to the United States after a truce than it was before. We cannot and will not let it fall into Communist hands.

States Get Reprieve On Segregation Issue

States struggling to find some solution to the problem of school segregation have been given a reprieve by the Supreme Court of the United States. This is the effect of the decision announced yesterday by the court, which has asked for additional argument to be made on Oct. 12. The court will be in adjournment until about that time.

Hope still prevails that even if the court does strengthen its position against segregation at the college level, it will leave to the states direction of the grade schools for at least a period of years and that, in this manner, any sudden and complete reversal of a custom operating under a Supreme Court decision will be avoided.

But this hope may be in vain. States and communities which may be affected are urged to study the problem and consider what may be done by local agreements, co-operation and administrative decisions if next fall, or by 1954, the court should reverse the former decision establishing the policy of "separate but equal" facilities as constitutional.

Each community will do itself, the state, and the South a service if a calm and rational study is made.

Along With 'Know-How' We Need 'Know-Why'

Along with American "know-how" we need a lot more of "know-why"!

That was the advice given Monday to the more than 1,000 students who were receiving degrees at the University of Georgia by Delbert Clark, distinguished educator and Eastern representative of the Fund for Adult Education.

In his words he echoed the most severe criticism of the American educational system, criticism voiced with more and more frequency as the nation grows up politically, economically and spiritually.

We have been wont in the past to accept college degrees as an end in themselves, a sort of "open sesame" to unlimited individual opportunity in the material sense. We have placed more emphasis on the technical side of education, the business of making a living taking precedence over methods of living.

A degree, then, is only a beginning of education—a milestone in the measure of usefulness of an individual. His real success comes in continuing that education into maximum usefulness to his community, state and nation.

Dr. Clark credited the present state of fear and suspicion in this country to the gradual abandonment of our ability to see our skills and our problems in relation to one another. "It is time," he said, "for us to renew our familiarity with the basic values upon which our society was founded and to see our present fears in sane, historical perspective."

The final test of Western civilization will not be based upon the degree of technical excellence and material success we have achieved but upon how that success is applied to the business of living. Moral and spiritual values, rooted in the traditions of our society, will determine whether or not that civilization survives.

Gordon Community Votes Consolidation

In a splendid example of voluntary consolidation the trustees of Plainville High School in Gordon County have recommended unanimously that the school be discontinued and the students transported to Calhoun High School. The school board in Calhoun has waived tuition for the new enrollees in light of benefits that will accrue to the city school.

Under the approved plan about 29 students who would have made up the Plainville High enrollment next year will be carried seven miles by bus into the county seat.

A member of the Plainville board said that the patrons of the small school voted overwhelmingly for the consolidation. He said that the small number of pupils there prohibited many activities and the kind of a course of study possible in the larger school. He said the people of his district considered consolidation the best method of providing "the best possible education for the children."

No doubt the Plainville people are saddened at the surrender of their school. They are to be commended for pushing sentiment aside in favor of better schooling for their children.

Education would benefit if that attitude were general among communities maintaining schools in which the enrollment no longer warrants the extra cost of operation and in which the enrollees pay the price of lower standard of learning because of the restricted curriculum.

Reds Tell Vacationers Where They Can Go

Let the "Fifth Amendment" leftist who said before a congressional committee that there is more freedom under the Reds than under the Red, White and Blue explains this list of what a resident of the Soviet Zone in Germany must carry on a vacation to a state-selected holiday spot:

1. Identity card. 2. Union membership card. 3. His vacation check from the police in case he gets near the so-called "protection zones" built to seal the East off from the West. 5. Food ration certificate. 6. Knife, fork and spoon. 7. Bed linen. 8. Insurance receipt in case social medical care is required en route.

All an American needs is leave from his boss, a credit rating and agreement in the family on where to go.

Who Said Honesty Was Thing of Past?

No news, they say, is good news but usually good news isn't news at all unless it is tinged with drama. Thus it is that honest people and honest acts, unless they are honest acts of very important people, don't always break into the news.

So we want to remind you of—

The young girl who gave up a chance at the big prize in a spelling bee by telling the judges herself she had spelled a word wrong.

The golfer who looked at his posted tournament score and saw that he was credited with a lower score than he had made; he corrected his score and cut himself out of a larger prize.

The mother who returned to a bank $2,000 which her daughter had found on the floor with a note that read: ". . . . We teach our children never to take what is not yours. . ."

Now we have a sneaking suspicion that this sort of honesty occurs more than people realize. It just doesn't always make the news because the occasions aren't always colorful. We're not paging Pollyanna, but if that cynical old Greek is still around with his lamp we can give him a couple of addresses just the same.

Ike's Letter Denies Traditions of U. S.

WASHINGTON—Historically, the letter sent by President Eisenhower to President Rhee reflects such a drastic change in the traditional position of the United States that its text may be pointed to for years to come as the first admission of military defeat this country has ever made.

Politically, it is a document that hereafter will plague the Eisenhower administration. What it says, in effect, is that the United States is just tired of fighting in Korea and has decided to accept an armistice. Everything the letter says about the importance of securing unification of Korea by "peaceful means" is a direct negation of what has been happening in that unfortunate country since June, 1950. For, if America sought merely to deny to the Communists the "fruits of aggression," then the fighting should have stopped on the 38th Parallel nearly three years ago and there was no sense in continuing the struggle since then to achieve unification by force.

Mr. Eisenhower says "the moment has now come when we must decide whether to carry on by warfare a struggle for the unification of Korea or whether to pursue this goal by political and other methods."

But the moment for that decision was really in the autumn of 1950, when, under the Truman administration, and after consultation with our Allies, an order was issued to General MacArthur to move north across the 38th Parallel and rid the North Korean territory of North Korean Communist forces. This victory was accomplished. Then Communist China entered the war, aided by Soviet Russia. The forces of the United Nations were thereupon compelled to retreat to the 38th Parallel, from which line they have since moved northward only a few miles.

Now the UN gives up the fight and says it will be content to seek the same goals "by political and other methods." Since physical force did not succeed, it cannot be seriously supposed that Soviet Russia and Communist China now will gracefully retreat under the pressure of words from the United Nations, especially when several member governments of the latter organization have announced that, as soon as the fighting ends, they will advocate admission of Red China into the Security Council of the United Nations.

Thus the "peace terms" are known in advance—a reward for the aggressor and a divided Korea indefinitely. They are the terms of a humiliating surrender and defeat, and one wonders why the Truman-Acheson administration was so soundly berated during the last presidential campaign when the Eisenhower administration is now upholding in every respect the very arguments made by its predecessor when Secretary Acheson, in his testimony before a Senate committee in May, 1950, virtually begged for a Korean armistice in and around the 38th Parallel.

Ike Vulnerable On Leadership

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower still continues to enjoy a high degree of popular favor both with Congress and the country. The honeymoon period accorded every new president at the outset of his administration has been extended indefinitely with him. General Eisenhower has been particularly free of attack from two quarters which traditionally seize an opportunity to be critical after a certain laying-off period—members of the opposition party in Congress and segments of the press. Even the Republicans are willing to concede that the Democrats, now in the minority, have shown a remarkable degree of restraint. Thus far there has been no concerted attack on the President or the administration from any responsible Democratic source, although a certain amount of skirmishing constantly goes on between the national committee organizations of the two major parties.

And as for the press, it is interesting to note that the main source of criticism has come from within the President's own party. The Chicago Tribune and its affiliated publications have been more outspoken in their attacks on the administration than even dyed-in-the-wool Democratic papers. Outside of this group of papers, however, the President, for the most part, has commanded a very favorable press.

But none of this is to say that the administration's record, as it has been built up from something more than four months in office, is above reproach or is invulnerable to attack. The thing of it is that the Democratic leadership in Congress has adopted a set policy of holding back its punches until General Ike and the new Republican regime have had full opportunity to make good on the various promises and pledges made during the campaign.

There has been plenty in the record to provide ammunition for political attack, if the Democrats were willing to make use of it. The Republican controlled Congress, although it has been in session since Jan. 5, has accomplished little or nothing of importance. Yet majority leaders have set a goal of adjournment by the end of next month. Both houses will do well to dispose of the regular departmental appropriation bills by then, leaving little time for much else. By way of contrast, the Truman administration in a comparable period of time after the elections of 1948 had put through a score or more of important pieces of legislation.

The President is apparently faced with a serious fight from members of his own party on several of his most positive recommendations—his tax program, extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act and the European aid program, which many Republicans are out to slash.

Election of Governor Should Mean More Than Jobs for Political Support

Conyers—The coming election of a new governor of Georgia will not pivot on small matters of administrative methods followed by Governor Talmadge. His handling of state affairs has been clean and above board and can be assailed only on differences of opinion.

The paramount issues of the coming campaign should be that of meeting general reforms, chiefly that of handling the state's financial affairs. Putting the millions of state tax money into the hands of one man for distribution could disrupt the state's business if the wrong man were elected governor. Probably no other state takes such a risk.

Then, too, Georgia should not remain the only state that can defeat the will of the majority by a system of destroying the right of franchise of loyal and patriotic citizens through an un-American unit rule.

The election of a governor for four years should mean more than jobs for political supporters. CHARLES H. EMMONS.

'Long Live the Queen, But Slow Down the Publicity'

Atlanta—Long live the Queen! But this wish for her longevity will not help keep journalism alive if it continues to give so much unnecessary space to the doings of British royalty.

Please, for the sake of your readers, don't let even one line about British royalty appear in your paper the balance of the year.

Cerebral Palsy Clinic Is Grateful for Assistance

Atlanta—The Cerebral Palsy School Board of Trustees and the parents of our children are most grateful to you for the many ways in which you helped make "Old Newspaper Boys' Day" another success. We not only appreciate your direct help in co-operation with the Atlanta Variety Club, but also your indirect help in rounding up all the "old newspaper boys," young newspaper boys, past, present and temporary newspaper boys. Their wholehearted interest and their hard work are an inspiration to us.

We look forward to expanded plans for next year with real anticipation—with the knowledge that you and all the old newspaper boys are partners with us in providing the best treatment for the cerebral palsied children in the Atlanta area.

He Sees 'Fine Red Hand' In Lewd Films and Books

Atlanta—Communist smear tactics are evident in all large cities, without exception. As informed writers tell us, it is a well-rounded program of lies, particularly slanted toward things and people and patriotic individuals who incur their displeasure.

In whispers and openly they cast malicious charges against the moral character of certain people, knowing such hogwash spreads rapidly.

Attention Paid Coronation Disgusts This Savannahan

Savannah—All right, get up off your knees, the coronation is over. . . . The utterly disgusting sight of 98 per cent of the editors of American newspapers and their hack stooges gushing and genuflecting editorially over the crowning of a simple, untalented British female has no recent parallel.

One major fault of you editors is that you sit in your offices and read each other's editorial pap, then turn to your typewriters and pontificate upon what the American people are thinking and feeling. Why don't you climb down out of your sanctuary, put on a pair of overalls and mix with the people for a few minutes and find out how they really feel?

'The Darby' at Epsom Downs Got Its Name by the Flip of a Coin

EPSOM DOWNS, SURREY, Eng.—This race course must be seen to be believed. So must the derby, the greatest flat race in the world.

It is run, as you probably know, over a mile and a half of semiroller coaster turf. Only a fraction of the hundreds of thousands on hand get to see much of it. The course is horse-shoe shaped, the start being made at one tip of the shoe and the finish in front of the comparatively small grandstand at the extreme other tip.

The view of the start is obstructed for many by "The Hill (West)," and after nearly a mile of the race has been run, the view is hindered by "The Hill (East)." In the middle of the course is Tattenham Hill. This is "common land," over which the promoters of the race have no control and thus cannot charge admission to.

The huge field in Saturday's race had to gallop uphill for about the first mile of the test, then plunge slightly downhill around a sharp turn into a devilishly tight place called Tattenham Corner. The course continues downhill in the stretch until 200 yards from the wire, from which point it rises steeply to the finish.

Each animal is asked to carry 125 pounds of live and deadweight. It is surprisingly upright weight, for an American racegoer to behold. British jockeys sit up in the saddle as if they didn't want to miss a thing. If possible, their beasts seem more beautiful than our own, but perhaps this is because the natural air of the countryside is retained around British racing, and the horses fit in.

The British treat this race as more than a horse contest, a pleasant mood that replants itself in our own country around the time of the Kentucky Derby. The "Darby" is a mixture of bank holiday, a minor coronation and a country fair.

Parenthetically, it might be added that divorced persons may sit in the vicinity of Elizabeth and Philip at Epsom. That would not be possible at Ascot because of a ruling handed down by one of the most proper of all British monarchs, Elizabeth's grandfather, George V.

Hardly in the history of the race—and it began while we were still fighting the British for our independence—has there been more interest in the outcome.

This was because the queen's chances to win with Aureole were good at the start and Sir Gordon Richards, knighted last Monday by the queen after 32 years of racing, was in the race on the favorite. This was the 28th Derby in which Richards has ridden. His mount, Pinza, was made a 9-to-2 choice.

Richards, winner of more than 4,500 races, and the father of a son, 25, hinted that this would be his last Derby; that he will become a trainer after the close of the 1953 season. Maybe so, but if he does go into the training business it will not necessarily rule him out..

Only two women owners heretofore have won the Derby and only one monarch, rakish Edward VII, in the endless stream of years since 1780 when Diomed—later sold to an owner in the crude American colonies for 50 guineas—won the inaugural.

Why is it called the Derby? A flip of a coin in 1780 decided that. The contestants were two men determined to stage a race, Lord Derby and Sir Charles Bunsbury. The coin was flipped to decide whose name the race would bear. Derby won, else Britons would be attending the running of the Bunsbury.

'So Long As There Are Homes'

Before me are two very interesting and opposing statements in regard to home, the need for one and what one means.

"Why do I need a home?" a modern young lady said to a real estate agent. "I was born in a hospital, educated in a college, courted in an automobile, and married in a church. I live out of the delicatessen and paper bags. I spend my morning on the golf course, my afternoons at the bridge table and my evenings at the movies. And when I die, I am going to be buried from the undertaker's. All I need is a garage."

The other statement came from the great Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink. In answer to the question, "What is a home?" she wrote: "A roof to keep out the rain? Four walls to keep out the wind? Floors to keep out the cold? Yes, but home is more than that.

"It is the laugh of a baby, the song of a mother, the strength of a father, warmth of loving hearts, light from happy eyes, kindness, loyalty, comradeship. Home is first school and first church for young ones, where they learn what is right, what is good and what is kind: where they go for comfort when they are hurt or sick; where joy is shared and sorrow eased; where fathers and mothers are respected and loved.

"Where children are wanted; where the simplest food is good enough for kings because it is earned; where money is not so important as loving kindness; where even the teakettle sings from happiness. That is home. God bless it!"

To round out Madame Schumann-Heink's magnificent statement, I turned to Grace Noll Crowell's poem, "So Long as There Are Homes," and read again where she said: "So long as there are homes where fires burn . . . And there is bread . . . So long as there are homes where lamps are lit . . . And prayers are said . . . Although people falter through the dark . . . And nations grope . . . With God himself back of these little homes . . . We still have hope."

I got out these things to read to a young man I am trying to help. He has a wife and two children and he has provided for them a nice house. He has done well in his business and has many friends. But he has not taken time to really build a home and now he is on the verge of leaving even what he has. He tells me he will support his wife and children, but he wants to be free.

I have tried to tell him that if he would learn what a home is, give his best to it, some day he will realize that it is the most precious possession of his life. No matter how else one may succeed, if he fails at home, life becomes an unhappy disappointment.

Peanut County Heard From

BLAKELY—Earl "Tige" Pickle is the man mostly responsible for my presence this morning here in the county seat of Early County, slam up against Alabama in the southwest corner of Georgia. "Tige" is the twinkle-eyed fellow who has been looking out at me from the northwest corner of the Early County News for lo these many years. His column quips have been a big help to this department. He's the man who says, "Writing a column and farming are pretty much alike. You can't tell how it's going to turn out, and if it's bad, it's too late to do anything about it." Another pithy Pickle paragraph reads, "The brand of humor around our town is getting to be a sorry lot. Must be the hot weather. One-half the jokes are so old nobody will tell them, and the other half are such that nobody will listen."

Just what he expects me to do about the situation I don't know, but he asked me down here, and he's the chairman of the program committee.

And I was glad to come. In the first place, I had never met the man who does for the poolrooms and barbershops of Blakely what Earl Wilson et al. do for the bright spots along Broadway. "Seems to me," says the Blakely Earl, "that the ideal location for a newspaper would be between a barbershop and a poolroom.

In the second place, I have never seen his neck of the Georgia woods. Thus I am making up for having missed that part of my life.

And while I am in the peanut belt, I want to see if the growers are doing anything about Atlantan Sam Edwards' plan for selling more goobers. Sam says so develop the peanut that all of them are perfect spheres instead of the conventional oblong or elongated variety. That way more peanuts will roll from bars and coffee tables to the floor and hence there will be a greater demand for the product.

Speaking of peanuts, Venice, a 34-year-old elephant in a Milwaukee zoo, reached out for one last week and fell into the moat in front of her pen. She died in the attempt either from the fall or from a heart attack.

Venice was old enough to have known that one peanut more or less was not worth stretching her trunk out for like that. The daily diet of an elephant is 125 pounds of hay, five gallons of water, a bucket of mixed vegetables and 15 to 20 loaves of bread. For an appetite like that, a handful of goobers, even of south Georgia goobers, is peanuts.

Asks Boost For State Hospital

Constitution State News Service

MILLEDGEVILLE, June 8—An increased appropriation of at least 37 cents per day per patient was urged by Business Manager Joe Boone of the Milledgeville State Hospital as a legislative committee inspected the gigantic mental hospital Monday.

The state appropriation amounts to $1.75 per day per patient, Boone said. In addition to this, the hospital farm produces $500,000 worth of foodstuffs and the Federal government gives the hospital about $500,000 worth of surplus commodities annually. This brings the total per capita to $2.12, Boone said.

"We would like for the Legislature to apropriate at least $2.12, instead of $1.75 per capita," the business manager told the committee, "because we do not know when the federal commodities will end."

A legislative group last year recommended the per capita spending be increased to $3.

Dr. T. G. Peacock, hospital superintendent, and Raleigh Lawrence, farm superintendent, conducted the committee on a tour of the buildings and grounds Monday. The legislators inspected the new building for senile patients, the new building for colored patients, the warehouse, and the egg and broiler project.

Boone said the hospital needs more buildings to house prisoners. He said more prisoners could be used to speed up the building programs.

The State Sanitarium Committee of the House is headed by Rep. Robert Chastain of Thomas County. Rep. Arnold Parker of Baldwin is vice-chairman, and Rep. A. A. Boggus of Ben Hill is secretary.

Rep. Hugh McWhorter of DeKalb is among the members on the inspection trip.

Husband Silent, Wife's Assault Case Dismissed

The state dropped its case of assault with intent to murder against Marie Cawthon Monday because the woman's wounded husband refused to testify against her.

Sol. Gen. Paul Webb asked that the case be dismissed and Judge Ralph Pharr of Fulton Superior Court signed an order dismissing it.

Mrs. Cawthon, 49, had been free under $7,500 bond since her husband W. Bailey Cawthon, an East Point policeman, was found shot four times with his own revolver the morning of Sept. 5.

Cawthon, 50, recovered from the wounds and returned to duty.

Segregation Ruling Delay Spurs School Bond Issue

The State School Building Authority set in motion Monday plans to issue up to $66,000,000 worth of additional revenue certificates, following a U. S. Supreme Court announcement that the court will not rule until October on the constitutionality of segregation in public schools.

House Speaker Fred Hand, authority chairman, said "we have started to move already" and added that "the next issue of revenue certificates will come out as soon as humanly possible."

The authority already has issued and sold about $33,000,000 worth of revenue certificates to finance a start on Georgia's long school building program. Another $66,000,000 worth of bonds are ready for issuance.

Sale of the second issue has been held up several months, however, pending a decision in the South Carolina segregation cases in the U. S. Supreme Court.

Hand said he assumes the court's postponement of a ruling "gives us a green light" to go ahead with the second bond issue. Actually, the authority can't be sure until next week, he said, but preliminary plans are ready for issuing the certficates. It cannot yet be determined, he said, whether the entire $66,000,000 worth will be issued at one time.

It has been planned for the authority to go ahead with the school building program, regardless of how the U. S. Supreme Court rules on segregation. But the delay has been caused by the desire to issue the bonds at an advantageous time when the best interest rate can be obtained.

State Auditor B. E. Thrasher Jr., member of the authority, was more cautious than Hand. Thrasher said the sale of the bonds will depend on a conference with securities dealers in New York.

Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook expressed the fear that the Supreme Court's postponement on the decision might actually delay Georgia's building program.

Governor Talmadge said, "I don't know," when asked what he thought the effect of the court's postponement would be. "The court hasn't said 'yea' and it hasn't said 'nay'," Talmadge added, "and you can't tell anything from that."

GOOD HUNTING

CONCORD, N. H. — (UP) — Gov. Hugh Gregg has signed into law legislation authorizing New Hampshire schools to instruct in the safe and proper use of firearms, the game laws and proper hunting practises. The bill is believed to be pioneer legislation of its kind in this country.

Benning ROKs Await Recall

The Korean embassy in Washington said late Monday afternoon that it had not yet received orders to recall 150 ROK officers now training at Ft. Benning.

The embassy said "it is to be assumed" that the orders will be issued "soon" by the South Korean government, which Saturday announced it would call all ROK officers home to meet a condition of "semi-emergency" declared by President Syngman Rhee.

Although some field-grade officers already have booked passage to Seoul, the embassy said recall orders for junior officers have not yet been transmitted to Washington.

Meanwhile, the Benning contingent, composed mostly of lieutenants and captains, spent Monday in routine training at the rifle range, and a spokesman said "no orders have come to us so far."

The Benning detachment is the largest group of ROK officers in the United States.

Sweden has about one automobile for every 20 people.

Sweden has about one bicycle for every two people.

Toastmasters Slate 2-Day Meet Here

A district meeting of Toastmasters International, an organization designed to aid business executives in public speaking, is scheduled in Atlanta Friday and Saturday.

The meeting will begin with an open house at the Atlanta Hotel at 8 p. m. Friday. Workshops are scheduled Saturday, and the meeting will close with a banquet and speech contest Saturday night.

C. Lee Smallwood, Mobile, Ala., advertising executive and the first director elected from the Southeast, will preside.

Summer Shows Seek Talent

Auditions for singers, dancers and actors for roles in the Broadway musicals coming to Chastain Park this summer will be held from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m. June 12-15 at the Tower Theater.

Richard Valente, producer-director of the Municipal Theater Under-the-Stars, announced the auditions would be held by Dolly Niggemeyer, dance director, and Margaret Fambrough, choral director.

With Broadway stars in the leading roles, the directors will be looking for talent to complete casts of "The Desert Song," "Hit the Deck," "Carousel," "Blossom Time," and "Kiss Me Kate."

Talent from throughout the South is expected to participate in the auditions, Valente said.

New Shoes for Baby

"There's the fellow who's doing it," Gene Mauch said, clattering down the dugout steps of the Atlanta Crackers in his spiked wedgies and pointing impolitely at Thomas Peter Whisenant. "When he started hitting, we started moving. I said that's the way it would be all along."

The target of the pointed finger sat in a half slump on the bench. His uniform needed to see the cleaner in the worst way. It was smudged in front and back, from top to bottom with red clay spots. Sweat beads were gathered on his brow and around his bullish neck. He was waiting for the call to duty in a Sunday doubleheader the new and wondrous Crackers who were to win from Chattanooga.

Bisher

It hadn't been too many days ago that Mauch had sat in his clubhouse stall and wondered when Whisenant was going to catch fire. And a few days later he'd almost decided he wasn't.

"Looks like I was wrong on Whisenant," he'd said. "There was one guy I'd have staked my life on. I thought he'd burn this league up. It looks like I was wrong. But I know he's a better ball player than that. I know he's better than a .220 hitter."

In the springtime, Whisenant was the one man Mauch wanted more than any other out of the entire Braves' organization, assuming, of course, that he wouldn't be able to convince Charlie Grimm that Mathews or Warren Spahn or Sid Gordon belong in Atlanta. When the Whisenant order came through in the opening stages of the season, the little general smirked with the confidence of Napoleon.

—Pete Had Everything, But Hits

Whisenant's recommendations are outspoken. He has all the basic requirements for a bright young outfielder. He can run. He can throw rifle shots. He hasn't a weakness in the field. He's spirited. He's colorful. He can hit. He left a lot of room for doubt for awhile, though.

"He'll bat .330, knock in 100 runs and hit 30 homers in this league," Mauch exclaimed proudly in April.

A month later Whisenant was sloshing about in the low .200s and he'd hit only one home run. The way Mauch saw it, Whisenant had to hit if the Crackers were to make a move.

There was one particular thing about Whisenant that was impressive through the doldums. He never loused up his performance with any display of indifference. He headed for first on bloodless hoppers to the mound as if he were running out a triple. He ran the bases like an industrious fellow who realized that the next inch might be good for a mile. He did his job in center field and maintained terroristic control of all base runners who dared try his trusty right arm.

Occasionally, if you'd watch him closely, he'd strike a batting stance in center field and make a couple of imaginary swings between hitters. The slump was eating his heart away, for only once before had he ever had such an experience. That was at Boston last season, when Tommy Holmes, the rookie manager, rushed him into the majors. He hit .192 in 25 games before farm orders mercifully came through.

—A .444 Hitter With Enthusiasm

It was a little over a week ago that Thomas Peter Whisenant Jr., arrived at the Georgia Baptist Hospital. The next afternoon Papa Whisenant showed up at the ball park with a box of big, black cigars and passed them around.

He didn't start either game of the Sunday doubleheader, but he came back the next evening. If baby needed a new pair of shoes, he's got them by now, for Pistol Pete hasn't been brought under control yet. Since the heir was born Whisenant has been a .444 hitter, and a .444 hitter who plays the game with his reckless enthusiam is a sight to behold.

Saturday night, while the Crackers fought off Chattanooga, Whisenant dispatched a couple of outfield bullets that cut down one runner and kept another from scoring. Sunday, while Cuban Raul Sanchez dawdled on the mound between pitches, Whisenant took flight for second and stole the base without a play.

"I'm no .250 hitter," said the papa from Paw Creek. That's a rich baseball suburb of Charlotte, N. C. "I'm not bragging, but I know I'm a better hitter than that. I know I wasn't ready last year, but I think I can play big league ball."

If he hasn't got everything it takes, then they've changed the specifications the last few days.

Atlanta Strategy Backfires In 6-2 Loss to Memphis

By JESSE OUTLAR
Constitution Sports Writer

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 8—Strategy backfired in the faces of Manager Gene Mauch and the Atlanta Crackers Monday night when Bill Wilson powered a grand-slam homer to break up an 11-inning wrangle and provide the Memphis Chicks with a 6-2 victory in the first of a five-game series at Russwood Park.

Mauch instructed reliefer Art Fowler to walk Paul Lehner, a southpaw swinger, with two down and two on in the overtime round. Three pitches later, Wilson, a right-handed batter who hammered 36 homers here in 1950, drove a 425-foot blast over the center-field barrier.

The setback flipped the Crackers from second into fourth and elevated the Chicks into the number two slot.

Del Johnson opened the home half of the final round with a single, but Fowler whiffed Dixie Howell and got George Noga on a fly to center, easing the pressure. Ed White then whacked a double to right-center and Lehner drew his free ticket. Wilson watched two balls before ramming his sixth round tripper in 15 games since returning from the Chicago White Sox.

Fowler, who took over for wobbly Bob Giggie in the seventh, was charged with his fifth defeat against six victories.

The lanky Howell, who rescued Tom Hurd in the seventh, blanked the Crackers on one hit for the remainder of the route.

Hurd, an old Cracker nemesis who holds a lifetime 8-2 record over the visitors, departed with a 2-2 draw in the seventh.

With two out in the first, Chuck Tanner and Jack Parks rapped singles around a walk to furnish the first Cracker run. Memphis knotted the score in the home half on singles by Noga and Ralph Rowe and a double play.

Gault Wins At Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ga., June 8—(AP)—Henry "Pappy" Gault answered local fight fans' call for a champion and the little North American bantamweight king was every bit the part here Monday night as he took a ninth-round TKO victory from Miami's Billy Lima.

Gault, already in line for a shot at Jimmy Carruthers' world bantam title, flashed a left hand the like of which hasn't been witnessed here in many a moon. He jabbed, he hooked, combined punches, and continued to pile up a big lead after a slow start to win when Referee Jerry Perlman stopped it at 1:12 of the ninth.

Mathews Raps 17th Home Run, Five RBI

Dark, Durocher Thumbed As Braves Bombard Giants

NEW YORK, June 8—(AP)—Eddie Mathews clouted his 17th home run and drove in five runs as the league-leading Milwaukee Braves outslugged the New York Giants, 12-8, Monday to open up a one-game margin on Brooklyn.

Mathews had a field day at bat, adding a single, double and walk to his homer which tied Brooklyn's Roy Campanella for the major league lead.

The Giants not only dropped their third straight game to fall to an even .500 rating for the season, but they also lost the services of Manager Leo Durocher and Captain Alvin Dark during a stormy debate with plate umpire Frank Dascoli in the final inning.

Dark, who opened the last of the ninth with a double, his fourth hit of the game, was caught in a run-down between third and home on a tap to the box by Monte Irvin. Dark and Durocher claimed interference by Milwaukee catcher Ebba St. Claire which was disallowed. In the argument that followed, both Durocher and Dark were banished.

Bell Big Noise As Reds Beat Bums

BROOKLYN, June 8—(AP)—Gus Bell drove in four runs Monday night as the Cincinnati Redlegs stretched their winning streak to five games at the expense of the Brooklyn Dodgers, 8-5.

Bell got the Redlegs off to a running start with a first-inning homer, his 12th of the season, scoring Bobby Adams ahead of him.

Bell brought home two more in the Redlegs' five-run fourth inning with a bases-loaded single. Cincinnati routed starter Russ Meyer with four straight singles in this inning.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 8—(AP)—Little Rock's Ralph Atkins hit his 13th homer of the season with two aboard in the first which was all right-hander Jim Running needed to defeat league-leading Birmingham on six hits, 11-1, Monday night.

In taking the first of the five-game series, the Travelers belted right-hander Ed Grenkoski and his successor, Tom Sturdivant, for 16 hits and two big innings.

Little Rock sent Grenkoski to the showers in the sixth with two runs on Chick King's leadoff single followed by Carl Linhart's single, a wild pitch, error and a double by Dave Jaska.

Singles by R. C. Otey, Danny Ryan and Jaska, a walk, hit batsman and wild pitch scored four more Traveler runs in the seventh.

'Unknown' Blisters Oakmont With 29

Collins' Nine-Holer Sets New Mark; Big Shots Rest

OAKMONT, Pa., June 8—(AP)—A young, unknown professional from Long Island turned monster Oakmont into a drooling kitten Monday as 299 golfers took final tuneups for the 36-hole qualifying test in the National Open tournament.

Bill Collins, a towering, 24-year-old ex-marine from Great Neck, N. Y., who will be making his first Open bid Tuesday, made veterans' eyes pop as he shot around the front side of the 6,917-yard layout in 29 strokes, eight under par.

Oakmont, steaming under a hot sun, fought back with its tenacious rough on the back side, sending Collins soaring to a 39 for a round of 68, but nobody's ever subjected the historic layout to the indignities it had to suffer for the first nine holes.

It was the best nine holes by three strokes ever played on the course and it set the folks to wondering if unconquered Oakmont can stand the official assaults on its par this week, after all.

Qualifying rounds will start Tuesday at 7 a. m. (EST) at the par 72 Oakmont and at the neighboring Pittsburgh Field Club, a 6,712-yard, par 71 course with a lot of hills and tight fairways.

The players will reverse courses Wednesday and the low 149 for the two rounds qualify for a crack at Julius Boros' crown in the 72-hole championship proper, beginning Thursday at Oakmont. Boros didn't have to qualify.

The defending champion, Boros, arrived late after playing in the Canadian matches, and played nine holes. He was reported concerned about his 18-months-old son, Jay, who recently was bitten by a horse. Boros' wife died at childbirth a few months before he wrested the Open crown from Ben Hogan at Dallas a year ago.

Hogan, a favorite to join Willie Anderson and Bobby Jones as the only four-time winners of this prime championship, did not indulge in a practice round but spent the afternoon hitting a few irons on the practice tee.

Sam Snead and Lloyd Mangrum, two other top choices, relaxed at checkers while Cary Middlecoff, who took this title in 1949, got his chief exercise from kibitzing.

Oakmont's broad, rolling greens became like glass under the broiling sun but more showers were predicted Monday night. Rain figures to make the course play easier.

Hogan tees off for the qualifying round at 12:20 p. m (EST) at Oakmont, with George Fazio of Clementon, N. J., and young Al Mengert of Mamaroneck, New York.

Most of the experts figure a score of 158 or 160 will be good enough to qualify for the championship and they're still saying Oakmont's par 288 won't be broken for the 72-hole championship. The record for the course is 294, set by Willie McFarlane in the Pennsylvania Open 20 years ago.

Bruins Fall To Phillies On Fumbles

PHILADELPHIA, June 8—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs threw the ball around like schoolboys in the second inning Monday, committing four errors to pave the way for the Philadelphia Phillies to pick up a 7-3 victory.

Del Ennis singled to open the inning and took second when Frankie Baumholtz overran the ball. Granny Hamner flied out to Hank Sauer and Earl Torgeson struck out.

But Willie Jones walked and Stan Lopata lifted an easy pop to second baseman Eddie Miksis. Miksis dropped the ball, Ennis scoring.

Starting pitcher Bob Miller singled to center to drive in Jones and when Baumholtz threw wild Lopata scored.

Pitcher Paul Minner, backing up the play at third, threw wild past catcher Joe Garagiola and Miller came all the way to score.

Bilko Doubles in 12th For Cards' 5-3 Win

PITTSBURGH, June 8—(AP)—Steve Bilko's double in the 12th inning—his only hit of the game—ignited a two-run rally and enabled the St. Louis Cardinals to whip the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-3 Monday night and snap a five-game losing streak. It was the Pirates' fifth straight loss.

Tigers Bust 13-Game Loss Streak

DETROIT, June 8—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers ended their 13-game losing streak Monday by scoring four times in the seventh inning to defeat the Boston Red Sox, 6-3, and thus avoid setting a club record for most consecutive defeats.

Right-hander Ned Garver spaced eight hits as the Tigers, battered and bewildered, won their first game since May 22. It was a frustrating streak in which they lost 13 times and tied twice.

New Discovery Will Enable Millions To Throw Away Their Glasses

ATLANTA, Ga.— (Special) —If you need to wear glasses, you should be interested in a leading Atlanta optical firm's offer of their newly discovered tiny invisible contact lens which they state they couldn't make better if they charged $125.00 to $150.00, for only $50.00 complete. The reason they are able to sell them at such a low price is because they manufacture the lenses themselves in their own large laboratories. Colored lenses now available to protect the eyes from glare and to give longer wearing time. Your prescription promptly filled. Budget payments are available. These lenses are so invisible your own friends won't know you are wearing them. Made of plastics, they are so safe football players wear them. They are safer and better than glasses. No impression or fluids are needed. They are tiny—about the size of a dime, featherweight and tissue thin. Call at once at Atlanta Invisible Contact Lens Service, Volunteer Bldg., 66 Luckie St., Suite 323, Broad and Luckie Sts. No appointments is necessary. If you prefer, phone ALpine 3125 or write for free demonstration appointment or for Free Booklet. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Open nights by appointment. BOXING

Turpin 3-1 Favorite Over Humez Tonight

LONDON, June 8—(AP)—The European half of the middleweight boxing elimination goes off Tuesday night with England's Randy Turpin a 3-1 favorite over Charles Humez of France.

Europeans figure the fight as being for the world title, but the winner will probably have to meet an American champ before he can claim the undisputed crown.

The American title will be decided June 19 in New York when Carl (Bobo) Olson and Paddy Young clash in a 15-rounder.

Turpin defeated Ray Robinson for the world championship July 10, 1951 in England, but was knocked out in the 10th round by Sugar Ray in a return match in New York 64 days later.

NEW YORK—George Araujo of Providence, R. I., put in three rounds of sparring for his 15-round title match with Jimmy Carter Friday. The lightweight contender will try three more rounds Tuesday.

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—Jersey Joe Walcott opened a two-night graduation stand Monday when he arrived here to attend the commencement exercises at Meharry College, a Negro medical school. Walcott will be in Camden, N. J., Wednesday for the graduation of one of his daughters from high school and two from junior high.

SUMMIT, N. J. — Lightweight champ Jimmy Carter looked sharp in three rounds of sparring for his Friday title fight with Georgie Araujo. Carter has three more rounds of boxing slated Tuesday and will take a light workout Wednesday.

BROOKLYN — Ralph "Tiger" Jones pursued a willing but outclassed Mickey Laurent from post to post to take a unanimous 10-round decision in a middleweight bout in Eastern Parkway Arena. Jones weighed 153½, Laurent 158.

PITTSBURGH—A promoter has offered Roland LaStarza a $35,000 guarantee or 30 per cent of the gate if he'll fight Ezzard Charles here in a 12-rounder in August. Charles reportedly has accepted terms for the bout that would be aimed to produce a challenger for Rocky Marciano's heavyweight title. LaStarza wants Marciano first, however, with no preliminaries.

Maulin' Mantle Ties Vernon for AL Lead

NEW YORK, June 8—(AP)—A lot of nice things have been said about Mickey Mantle's ability and the Yankee youngster is out to prove it's all true.

Red Schoendienst — Mickey Mantle

The Yankee center fielder has zoomed into a tie for first place in both batting and runs batted in in the American League.

The 21-year-old banged out 13 hits in 29 trips to the plate last week to boost his batting mark 20 points to .347 and a tie with Washington's Mickey Vernon. Getting the hits when they were needed, Mickey has driven in 39 runs for a tie for first in that department with another Senator, Clyde Vollmer.

Mickey has been compared with his predecessor in center field, Joe DiMaggio, and it's interesting to note that DiMag hit .324 in 1938, his third year with the Yanks. Mickey is in his third year now. DiMaggio batted .323 and .346 in his first two years and it wasn't until his fourth year that the Yankee Clipper clouted .381 to lead the league. Mantle hit for .267 in his first season and .311 in 1952.

In the National League, Red Schoendienst of St. Louis continues to set the pace with .376. The peppery second baseman showed a five-point increase on 12 safeties in 30 trips.

George Kell of Boston is third in the American at .345. Pete Suder of Philadelphia is fourth with .341, followed by Al Rosen of Cleveland at .325.

Gus Zernial of the Philadelphia Athletics has hit 13 home runs to lead in that department.

Runner-up to Schoendienst in the National is Johnny Wyrostek of the Phillies. The veteran outfielder climbed two points to .360 last week.

Jim Greengrass of Cincinnati dropped 21 points to .341 but holds down the third spot, a shade in front of teammate Gus Bell and Milwaukee's Del Crandall, tied for fifth at .337.

Campanella, who appeared to be making a runaway of the home run race, now is tied with Ed Mathews of Milwaukee, at 17 apiece. Campy, with 55 runs batted in, still maintains a sizable bulge in that category.

Frank Smith, Cincinnati relief pitcher, is the nominal National pace-setter with a 4-0 record, but Robin Roberts of the Phillies has won the most games, nine, and dropped only three.

In the American, southpaws Ed Lopat and Whitey Ford of New York, both unbeaten in six decisions, are tops.

Walt Dukes Signs With Globetrotters

Condensed From Constitution Wire Reports

A chance to see the world and $25,000 a year. That's the future for Walt Dukes, 6-11 all-America from Seton Hall College.

The giant Negro cage star signed with the fabulous Harlem Globetrotters in New York Monday and immediately took off for London to join the team on tour.

Dukes, 22, turned down an offer from the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association. They had picked him as their first draft choice after some preliminary dickering. But Dukes discovered he wouldn't be able to attend law school while playing with the Knicks—as he had hoped—and chose the Globetrotters.

The signing was accompanied by real hoop-hoorah with Abe Saperstein, owner of the 'Trotters, posing his new star in the midst of a pile of silver dollars worth $3,000. Saperstein said Dukes had signed his contract Saturday and was measured that day as standing an even seven feet. "And he didn't stand on his bank roll, either," he added.

The Chicago White Sox sold Allie Clark, the outfielder they bought from the Athletics a month ago, to Rochester of the International League.

A group of Cleveland moneymen is said ready to purchase the Cleveland Browns from Mickey McBride. McBride has set a $600,000 price for his National Football League Club and the syndicate reportedly has the cash and the inclination.

Mike Lemish, Mobile Bears' pitcher, has had his contract reassigned to Elmira of the Class A, Eastern League.

Duke University leads the parade of college baseball champions into Omaha for the NCAA turned to St. Paul of the American Association and he will be tournament starting Thursday, but the Devils won't be favored as they were last year. Probable favorite looks like Texas.

Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N. Y., 1941 champion, has withdrawn from the National Open. His place goes to Bobby Cruickshank of Pittsburgh, who tied Bobby Jones for the Open title in 1923 but lost in a playoff.

Oddsmakers have installed Ben Hogan and Sam Snead as cofavorites in the Open starting Tuesday at Oakmont, Pa. Both are rated 6-1. Defending champion Julius Boros is no better than 15-1.

Larry Siemering has been signed as line coach with the Washington Redskins to replace Marvin Bass. Siemering was head coach at College of the Pacific when Eddie LeBaron, the Skins' star quarterback, was playing there.

The 1954 International Jaycee Junior Golf Tournament will be played at Albuquerque, N. M. This year's tourney (Aug. 17-22) will be held in Ann Arbor, Mich.

BARONS ADD CHESTNUT

Four Legion Posts Sponsor Junior Nines

By LARRY FOX

Four American Legion posts in Greater Atlanta will definitely field junior baseball teams this summer, with three more strongly considering such a move.

Out of 15 posts in the city, four revealed they planned to sponsor teams. Only one—Harold Byrd Post No. 66, first post in this district ever to sponsor a junior club—did so last year.

Post 66 won the district title in 1952—there were only two teams altogether—but was eliminated in the area tournament. Age limit for the junior program is 16.

This year Coach K. W. Smith has added three players to his DeKalb Barons who he figures will strengthen the club. And one is the boy who knocked his team out of the area tournament last year.

East Point Post 51 expects to call on Russell High's State Class AA finalists for most of its material. Doug Tankersley will coach the team. A final organizational meeting will be held by the post Tuesday night.

Atlanta Post One with Jimmy Still in charge of the team, also has a meeting slated Tuesday, while Post No. 574 has team personnel chosen and needs only to select a coach. James Banks has been supervising the boys as Legion representative and may head the squad.

Lack of a coach will probably keep Bolton Post 136 from fielding a team, Commander Lester Tidwell says. However, Tidwell said the post would go ahead with plans—the money is already appropriated—if a coach can be found in a hurry.

Dan Theodocion, Tech football and baseball star, had planned to coach the Bolton youngsters but was forced to pull out because of business reasons. Tidwell can be contacted in Bolton by anyone who wants the coaching job.

Post 508 will decide Tuesday night if it will field a team and chances are good it will. However, Joe M. Veale Post 28 probably will not, although a committee has been formed.

Two legion posts are turning to Little League baseball. Asa Warren Candler Post 65 representatives said they would spend this summer converting their diamond to Little League dimensions and field a team next year. They didn't participate in the junior program last season.

Lyle Brewster Post 50 plans to sponsor the Little Leaguers this year. Several other posts reported they had teams in local amateur leagues.

Smith Pitches Buckhead To Opening Sandlot Win

Defending Champs Clip Grove Park; Northside Tigers Shell Rebels, 12-1

By JIMMY MANN

Lamar Smith got Mrs. C. C. Johnson's Buckhead Braves off to another winning start as he hurled a 6-2 victory over Grove Park in an Atlanta Recreation League opener Monday night at Ben Hill.

It was the first night for two recreations leagues—the 18-years-old-and-under loop and the 17-and-under loop. Each league is composed of four teams. Two parks will be used for the league play—Ben Hill and Center Hill.

Smith allowed the losers just five hits. Buckhead's defending champs were only able to muster the same number, but wildness of Claude Clayton, GP hurler, in the first inning and two of the five hits gave Buckhead four runs and the ball game.

The Buckhead team which made the trip last summer to Cleveland for the National Junior Tournament, appears headed for another good year and should be improved by the addition of Ronnie Jones of Russell at second base.

Lane Akers, Bass High shortstop, again is handling the long-throw duties for Buckhead. Akers and Jones will make up the keystone combination for the North in the Lighthouse for the Blind game at Ponce de Leon Park Friday night.

In the second game at Ben Hill, the Northside Tigers walloped the East Point Rebels, 12-1. The game was called at the end of two innings.

Most of the Northside tallies came on walks. The winners managed four hits in the brief contest.

At Center Hill in the 17-and-under league, the Techwood Aces and North Fulton team battled to a 4-4 tie in a game that was called—by league rule—at the end of an hour and a half.

25 Golfers Tune up for City Tourney

Close to 25 Atlanta amateurs stroked their way around the Druid Hills golf course Monday in practice rounds for the City Amateur tournament which begins with an 18-hole qualifying round Wednesday. Players will also be allowed to enter and fire practice rounds on the course Tuesday.

Defending champion Charles Harrison was the top Atlanta golfer playing Monday. Harrison did not report his score. Playing with the defending champion, who is on leave from the Air Force, was Dick Edwards, runner-up in 1952, and Jim Harrison, his brother. All three are East Lake Club golfers.

Qualifying will begin at 8 a. m. Wednesday. Thirty-one low qualifiers and Harrison will make up the championship flight.

he faced them, was rocked for three singles by Floyd Fogg, Ken Landenburger and Johnson, which produced a run in the second.

Atlanta finally pulled even in the seventh when Mauch and Bob Mainzer linked doubles for the tying run. The Crackers passed up an opportunity to wrap it up in that round. Mainzer was thrown out at third on Giggie's attempted sacrifice and Wooten followed with a single. At that juncture Howell came on and slammed the door.

Fowler and Howell rocked along in scoreless style until the fatal eleventh.

Paul Stuffel, a right-hander purchased from the Philadelphia Phils, may make his first start as a Chick Tuesday night. Jack Taylor (2-1) is Mauch's tentative choice.

Rowe, Memphis' right-fielder, injured his knee sliding into second on a double play in the seventh and was carried from the field on a stretcher. Extent of injury was not known.

Albany TD Club Honors Grid Star

Special to The Constitution

ALBANY, June 8—Mack Garrett, first-string quarterback of Albany High's football team last fall, has been awarded the Albany Touchdown Club's first annual scholarship, totaling $500.

He plans to attend Georgia Tech and study chemical engineering.

Bill Kegerreis Signed by Cards, Sent to Albany

Bill Kegerreis, slim left-hander who pitched Coach Bill Chonko's Fulton Redbirds to the Atlanta City League high school baseball championship, has been signed to a contract by St. Louis Cardinal scout Mercer Harris.

Kegerreis, who was the hurling star of the winning city team in the recent City-Greater Atlanta All-Star game here, has been sent to the Albany club of the Class D Georgia-Florida League. In the All-Star game he hurled hitless ball for the final three innings and fanned seven batters.

Two other Georgians, Stone Mountain pitcher Bud Hay and pitcher-outfielder Ronnie Steele from Rising Fawn, also have been assigned to Albany. And Bill Ivey, outfielder from Buford, has been sent from Albany to Johnson City, Tenn.

Lighthouser Newton One of State's Greats

Moultrie Sensation To Play For Dodd's South Nine Here

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Gibson Newton is a name that won't ring any bells in the minds of Atlanta sports fans right now. But four years from now his name may be a household word in the home of every Georgia football fan. North Georgians will have their first look at this tremendously outstanding young athlete in the Lighthouse for the Blind North-South high school All-Star baseball game at Ponce de Leon Park Friday night.

South Georgians already know about the athletic exploits of "Sweetie" Newton, the tag by which he is known at Moultrie High where he is considered one of the finest all-round performers in the school's history.

The six-foot, 180 - pound speedster, who will play for Bobby Dodd's South team in the Lighthouse game, batted .371 this year while swinging from the left side of the plate for Coach Ike Aultman's Packers, rated by many as South Georgia's strongest nine.

He throws right-handed and covers the outfield with gazelle-like grace and speed, according to Aultman, who will bet you there won't be a more outstanding player in the Lighthouse classic, sponsored by the Lions Club of Georgia and The Atlanta Constitution. Newton also is an excellent shortstop.

Newton, who calls Norman Park home, gained his reputation first as a football standout. The strapping end was chosen to All-State teams of both The Journal-Constitution and the state's coaches and was an honorable mention on the All-Southern squad.

His great clutch ability was demonstrated when he caught the touchdown pass that beat Macon Lanier, 13-12. In a game with R. E. Lee of Thomaston he grabbed a TD pass on a 73-yard play and nabbed another for 65 yards. Moultrie won, 12-7.

LIGHTHOUSE HIGHLIGHTS—Vaughn Terrell, Superintendent of the Georgia Factory for the Blind at Bainbridge, sold 1,200 tickets to the game last year. He's sold that many already this year. Griff Eastin, Atlantan who recently was named Georgia's most outstanding blind person for 1953, is reported to have sold about the same number . . . The Metropolitan Association for the Negro Blind will send a group to the game in a body, each with a sighted person as escort. They wish to show their appreciation for what the Lighthouse has done for them . . . Dave Hearington, executive secretary of the Lighthouse, will be interviewed regarding the game along with coaches Bobby Dodd and Wally Butts on television station WLW-A at 3 p. m. Tuesday. Griff Eastin will talk about the game on an 11 a. m. program on WAGA-TV Wednesday.

All tickets for the Lighthouse game are priced at one dollar each. They may be purchased at The Constitution's front counter in the Journal-Constitution Building or at Reeder & McGaughey's on Broad St. They also may be bought from members of any Lions Club.

Lighthouse Umps Pay To Get In

Many baseball fans think that all umpires should pay their way into the ball park. Four crack Atlanta umps are going to do just that for the Lighthouse for the Blind high school all-star game at Ponce de Leon Park Friday night.

Frankie Allen, Red McCutcheon, Johnny Chambers and Jim Garner, four of the best in these parts, will donate their services as officials and buy tickets for themselves and families. A year ago the same foursome bought 18 tickets.

Allen a few seasons ago was one of the South's outstanding boxers, and he is a former umpire-in-chief of the old Georgia-Alabama League. Chambers was a top-flight pitcher in the St. Louis Cardinal chain. Garner, one-time sheriff of Lawrenceville, was a semipro and amateur star here.

McCutcheon? The red head has retired after a long career in the Southern Association. He comes out of retirement each year for this one game "because it is for such a worthy cause." —ROBERTS.

Cordele Gets Bill Trussell

Special to The Constitution

CORDELE, June 8—Bill Trussell of Fort Payne, Ala., has been named to succeed Glen Yancey as head football coach at Cordele High.

Yancey, who guided Cordele to a state Class B championship in 1951 and was named Georgia Coach of the Year in the classification, resigned recently.

Trussell is a graduate of Troy State. He has coached the last three years at Fort Payne. A native of Tallassee, Trussell played three years on the high school team that set a national record of 57 straight victories without defeat.

Fair Oaks Nine Plays Lockheed

Lockheed will play host to Fair Oaks at Larry Bell Park in a Scott League amateur baseball game at 8 o'clock Tuesday night.

Other Scott League games:

Richmond and Pepperell Start Playoff in Lindale

Special to The Constitution

LINDALE, June 8—Richmond Academy of Augusta and Pepperell of Lindale, with five stars in the lineups who will play in the Friday night Lighthouse All-Star game in Atlanta, will begin their two-out-of-three-game playoff Tuesday at Lindale.

First game of the series, which will determine the team to represent Georgia in the Southeastern meet at Selma, Ala., June 17-19, will be played at Lindale at 1:45 p. m. Second game is set Tuesday night at 8:15 in Rome's Cole Stadium. Third game, if necessary, will be at Pepperell Wednesday at 1:30 p. m.

A. L. Williams, whose Richmond team has won the state AA crown three straight years and the Southeastern twice, plans to pitch right-hander Roy Alewine in the opener and either southpaw Preston Sizemore or Jimmy Shead in the second game.

J. W. Sutton, whose Pepperells have copped the state B crown twice in a row but who lost this same series to Richmond, 5-2 and 4-3, in Augusta last year, will lead with ace Bud White in the opener and come back with slim Troy Coffia in the second game.

White and left-fielder Jim Yarbrough will play for Wally Butts' North team in the Lighthouse game Friday night in Atlanta. Richmond stars who will perform for Bobby Dodd's South club are third baseman Johnny Menger, second sacker Duane Grice and catcher Jimmy Farris.

TV's Humberto Faces McIntyre

Juan Humberto is a television wrestler. He doesn't wrestle for peanuts. Not even salted peanuts.

He agreed to wrestle here Friday night at the City Auditorium but only for a shot at Don McIntyre's Southern heavyweight title . . . and that's what it will be. One fall, one hour between McIntyre and Humberto, a Californian and former Texas champion.

GOLF FOR ALL

Coach Coaxes First 70 Out of Adams Park

BY JIMMY MANN

There's a guy who coaches baseball—and golf—at Murphy High School. He is as big as a house and swings at the golf ball like most big men do. But the difference between A. T. Harmon and other big men is that he keeps the pellet in the fairway and is conservative with strokes.

Several years ago Harmon decided to take up golf so that he would be able to coach it at Murphy. He took it up, practiced a little, played a lot—even made the championship flight in the city amateur last year. But the climax to his links legend came last Saturday over the Adams Park 18-hole layout.

Jimmy Mann

Harmon, playing with Johnny and former National Pee Wee champ, Bobby Lemming, and Ed Flury fired a two-under-par 70. He could have easily carded a 66 had it not been for three three-put greens and a "snooze" shot.

But the "if golf" doesn't bother A. T. He scored his lowest lifetime round and, "two-putted two par four holes for birdies and one-putted two par five greens for eagles."

• • •

Lester and partner, Griffia Moody Jr. turned the front side four under par and four up on opponents Jack Lumpkin and N. A. Richardson Jr.

The already harassed Lumpkin-Richardson duo, fighting to get back on even terms, finished the final three holes on the back side, birdie, birdie, birdie. But Moody canned an eagle on the 16th, Lester dropped a birdie on the 17th and both had a stroke to spare on the last hole to take the match.

Pro Pooley Hubert said the Lumpkin - Richardson scene far surpassed even a Wes Ferrel-Tommy Bolt tantrum.

GOLF ADAGE: "DRIVE for show, chip and putt for dough."

That's true. But one would never know it from the outcome of the East Lake Women's Club championship matches last week.

Mrs. R. R. Givens, winner of the club crown, also took first place in the driving contest held as a special feature. Mrs. L. H. Kelly, chip and putt winner, was ousted in the quarter-finals.

Winner of the first flight and first flight driving contest was Mrs. M. E. Henley. The best chipper and putter in that division, Mrs. J. A. Welch lost her semi-final test.

• • •

PUTTIN' IT MILDLY: Mrs. Jo Donohue belted one of her drives during the East Lake driving contest 240 yards. She failed to qualify as her other two efforts were O. B. . . . H. G. McNair, 17 handicap, fired his life's lowest last week, an 86. . . . In tournament play, David Warner of East Lake carded a 93, he was a 100 shooter. . . . H. M. Smalley topped W. A. Willingham at the American Legion Club. Big shot for the match for Smalley's eagle on the eighth hole. He canned a second shot nine iron . . . North Fulton's R. S. Seidel scored his lowest-in-a-long-time round, a 75. Best hole No. 14—eagle . . . R. K. Maddox played the eighth hole at James L. Key the easy way last week as he hit a driver and two-wood in the cup for a double eagle . . . He has nothing on Tom Bothwell, who did the same thing at East Lake, first hole, driver and fourwood . . . And the third hole at Bobby Jones IS uphill.

GOP Porcupine Pointed for Zoo

A Republican porcupine from Dakota will have a home in the Grant Park Zoo.

It will be a gift from J. M. Nichols Jr. of Atlanta, state chairman of the Georgia Young Republicans.

Mayor Asks 3d Term In Marietta

Marietta's Mayor Sam Welsch said Monday he will seek a third term in the city's Aug. 12 primary.

His announcement came shortly after Dr. Loy Carpenter, Dr. Earl Williams and Harold Schilling paid the incumbent's qualifying fee to the Marietta Democratic Executive Committee.

Welsch told The Constitution that all three men had been mentioned as "possible candidates" for the post he holds.

Two other candidates had qualified previously. They are Luther Morris, a former city councilman, regarded as the leader of anti-Welsch faction, and J. T. Sisk, a Marietta real estate dealer. The deadline for qualifying is Friday.

Meanwhile, the mayor termed "misleading" reports that he had planned to "look over" the field of candidates for a "capable man" before deciding whether he would be a candidate for re-election.

He said he had encouraged the entry of a large number of candidates in an effort to give the voters an opportunity to select the best qualified person for the office.

Opposition has developed for only two of the seven council posts at stake in the August primary. Guy E. Wyrick has qualified to oppose incumbent Sydney Pace in the Fourth Ward race and Walton Y. Cook has qualified against incumbent Herman Brinkley of the Second Ward.

Other candidates for council posts are:

Turtle Bridge In Hands of TollAuthority

State Highway Board Chairman James L. Gillis said Monday the Turtle River bridge project near Brunswick now is in the hands of the Georgia Toll Bridge Authority

Asked why the project, originally designed in 1947, had not been completed by this time, Gillis said it was a federal aid project and was too expensive because it would have used up nearly all of the state's appropriated federal funds.

"I feel sure the rest of the people of Georgia didn't want all the federal money spent in one small area," Gillis said.

The chairman said the project was turned over to the Toll Bridge Authority at the request of Governor Talmadge. Gillis said at the time the Authority bill was approved by the legislature, Glynn County representatives understood the Turtle River bridge would become a toll project.

It has been estimated the bridge will cost $15,000,000.

ArmyWormPests Peril Hay Crop

ST. LOUIS, June 8—(INS)—The worst outbreak of army worms in St. Louis County in 15 years today was reported threatening a third of the 75,000 acres under cultivation.

Agricultural agent Paul Bernard said complete extent of damage will not become known until after the harvest, but early harvest of hay is "being reduced." He estimated that between 20,000 and 25,000 acres are affected.

Costa Rican Strike Leaves 1 Dead, 3 Hurt

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, June 8—(AP)—Violence erupted in the strike of 6,500 banana plantation workers in the Coto Valley Region last night, resulting in the death of one and wounding of three others.

The casualties occurred when civil guards fired into a group of strikers. The guards had arrested a strike leader on grounds he had addressed an illegal gathering and the strikers were trying to liberate him.

Dr. Bunche Denounces 'Intolerance'

Charges 'Sniping' In Our Society

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 8—(AP)—Dr. Ralph Bunche, United Nations official and Nobel Peace Prize winner, today attacked "smearing and sniping" in our society which, he said, stems from "downright intolerance."

The Negro statesman, now a member of a UN committee investigating race relations in South Africa, spoke at the commencement exercises of 290 Vassar College graduates. Among them was his own daughter, Jean.

SHIPS' INQUIRY RUMOR

Bunche made no mention of a recent statement by Rep. Powell (D, N. Y.) that Bunche would be investigated by Rep. Velde's (R., Ill.) Un-American Activities Committee.

Bunche told the graduates he described "the smearing and sniping that have recently become unpleasant and ominous and, one may hope, be a passing peculiarity of our society."

ASSAILS UN CRITICS

Commenting on critics of the UN, Bunche said:

"No institution is beyond criticism or fault, but a false type of criticism, alien to our traditions, is growing—at times stemming—from downright intolerance rather than honest differences and designed to sow suspicion, to intimidate and to force into wooden conformity."

In Baltimore last Saturday, Rep. Powell, a Negro, said he learned Velde's committee plans to probe the activities of Bunche.

Yesterday in Peoria, Ill., Velde said he was puzzled by Powell's statement but added:

Powell, reached later at his Mount Vernon, N. Y., home, declined to elaborate on his original statement.

Reed Sees Truce Aid In Tax War

Would Strengthen Hand, He Says

By CHARLES F. BARRETT

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—Rep. Daniel Reed (R-NY) said today a Korean truce "certainly" would strengthen the hand of lawmakers fighting President Eisenhower's plea to extend the excess profits tax.

Reed, chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, said in fact a truce would build up new steam behind his drive "to cut taxes instead of raise them."

He commented as a report circulated that the chairman might not even call his committee together to vote on the administration request to extend the unpopular tax to Dec. 31. The tax expires June 30 unless Congress acts to continue it.

NO DATE IN MIND

Asked about this, the veteran New Yorker said he had no date in mind now for a committee vote on the issue. He declined further comment, saying he wanted to discuss the matter with committee members.

Supporters of the requested extension—such as House Speaker Martin (R-Mass)—were known to hold the belief a Korean truce would have little effect on prospects for the tax bill. Martin has predicted repeatedly the bill would sail through Congress when and if it gets out of the ways and means committee — which must start all tax legislation.

SEVERAL SHARE VIEW

Reed has said the bill will never be approved by his committee.

Several other committee members shared Reed's view that an end to fighting in Korea would put still another big stumbling block ahead of the administration's tax extension request.

They commented after Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey reported chances are "very good" that Congress will extend the levy.

Humphrey, in a copyrighted interview with the magazine U. S. News and World Report, said "I hope and think" Congress will adopt President Eisenhower's tax program in full.

1,000 Flee Flash Flood in Sioux City

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, June 8—(AP)—A flash flood rolled into the heart of Sioux City tonight, forcing 1,000 persons to flee from their homes and inundating 50 blocks of the business district.

Other floods struck throughout northwestern Iowa and at Spencer. Gov. William S. Beardsley declared a state of emergency. The governor alerted National Guard companies at Storm Lake and Cherokee for possible flood duty at Spencer.

In Sioux City, water ran to a depth of five feet on Fourth Street, the main thoroughfare, for a mile. Boats cruised up and down the street on rescue and mercy missions.

The Sioux City flood came from the Floyd River, on its worst rampage in modern times from torrential rains that fell during violent week end storms in the Midwest.

The Floyd surged to flood proportions so rapidly that it spilled into the stockyards at Sioux City before all the livestock could be taken out and some cattle drowned.

The Red Cross cared for the evacuees in school buildings, club houses and public halls. An appeal was sent out for blankets.

Electric power and gas were cut off in the Morningside area of Sioux City. Water swamped parts of the telephone system, hampering service during the emergency.

Author of Fiction Dies in Capital

Her books included "Plumes," "Canon Brett," "Close the Door Softly," and "The Story of St. Alban's."

She was born in Raleigh, N. C., but had lived in Washington for 60 years. Her father, Peter Mitchell Wilson, was a newspaperman and one time chief clerk of the Senate.

Funeral services will be held here tomorrow with burial in Raleigh Wednesday.

Dixie Welcomes Time To Equalize Education

Postponement by the U. S. Supreme Court of a decision on segregation in public schools brought varied reactions in the South, with most leaders indicating the delay gives time for states to develop equal school facilities for both races.

In Georgia, Governor Talmadge said: "Any comment on my part would be premature."

However, he said he has not changed his mind on Georgia's future action should the Supreme Court finally decide against segregation.

Under Talmadge's plan, Georgia's public schools would be leased to private operators and the state would supply money for the students to pay their "tuition" with admission gained by meeting racial qualifications.

Gov. Hugh White of Mississippi said the postponement "has me in a quandary."

"If we go ahead and provide for two equal systems and the court abolishes segregation, then where would we be?" he said.

Alabama Gov. Gordon Persons adopted a "wait and see" attitude and declined comment, but he recently indicated a large amount of school construction may be necessary in the South if the court rules for continued segregation on a basis of equal facilities.

Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina also declined comment but has previously stated that, if necessary, South Carolina "will abandon the public school system" before permitting mixing the races in classrooms.

Jesse T. Anderson, South Carolina's superintendent of education, however, viewed the delay as an opportunity for the South, and said, "It gives South Carolina more time to complete its development of adequate facilities for white and Negro school children."

He added that units for public school administration have been reorganized and the state has made available sufficient funds to provide equal facilities.

Echoing this thought was Ed McCuistion, Arkansas director of Negro education, who said the postponement will give Arkansas a chance to maintain "the fastest pace ever set by the state in improving Negro schools."

Arch Ford, Arkansas commissioner of education, agreed the postponement would provide the state with additional time to improve Negro school facilities.

In Louisiana, Gov. Robert Kennon said the delay "makes absolutely no difference to us."

He said: "We have already met the situation as far as I am concerned. Louisiana schools and colleges have come a long way toward providing adequate facilities for Negro citizens. The state has anticipated the problem by giving equal salaries to Negro teachers and making vast improvements in recent years in our Negro schools."

Miami Votes Today on City, County Merge

MIAMI, June 8 — (INS) — Miami voters will vote tomorrow to decide if the city and county governments should be merged.

If the merger is approved, the Miami city government would be abolished and its work would be taken over by the county commission.

Miami would retain its name and Dade County would be renamed Miami County. The bill does not affect surrounding communities such as Miami Beach, Hialeah or any of the other 24 incorporated areas in Dade County.

Promerger forces have hit hard on the fact that there is considerable costly duplication in city and county governments that would be removed.

The opposition comes mostly from those presently employed by the city and their friends.

3 Coats Per Man Ratio Army Goal, Probe Says

By HERB ALTSCHULL

WASHINGTON, June 8—(AP)—Congressional investigators turned up testimony today that the Army planned to stock more than three million overcoats for a post-World War II force of one million men.

Rep. Holifield (D-Calif), a clothing manufacturer himself, and other members of a House government operations subcommittee suggested the Army was guilty of "dishonorable" actions in neglecting to tell Congress about the overcoat program.

The hearing was called to look into the Army's purchasing habits, particularly as they dealt with two million newly-designed overcoats, which cost 45 million dollars and later had to be remodeled when it was learned they were useless for combat wear.

Col. James M. Illig, a former official in the Quartermaster Corps, testified that the Army in June of 1946 contracted to buy 1,262,000 of the new-style coats.

Illig said the overcoat purchasing program was part of the Army's general plan to create new uniforms at the end of World War II in an effort to stimulate recruitment and minimize the difference in appearance between officers and enlisted men.

Holifield pointed out that "this was a period of demobilization, civilian scarcity and the cumulative effect of a tremendous war debt."

He pointed out that when the Army went before Congress in 1946 to ask for money for 800,000 additional coats, witnesses told House members the Army had a supply of only 516,000 overcoats.

Actually, Holifield said, the Army had 1,332,501 overcoats in warehouses, "probably a million more in the field," and contracts to buy 1,262,000 more.

This, he said, added up to at least 3,394,501 overcoats contemplated by the Army for a force of a million men.

Illig had testified that under the 1946 demobilization program, the Army envisioned a peacetime force of about a million men.

But, he said, another million in troops could be counted on as requiring overcoats from among the National Guard, reserve officer forces and youths in the proposed universal military training (UMT) program, which eventually was pigeon-holed by Congress.

Illig testified the overcoat purchase program won the approval of the Budget Bureau and of Kenneth Royall, then under secretary of the Army.

He denied that the Army rushed through with the program to make sure it could spend its appropriations before the fiscal year ended.

Free Booklet Tells What New Miracle Transistor Means To The Deaf

CHICAGO (Special)—New hope for the 15 million persons in the United States who are hard of hearing was voiced by S. M. Posen, noted Chicago acoustical scientist and president of the Beltone Hearing Aid Co.

He revealed that a new "atomic age" all-transistor hearing aid, eliminating all vacuum tubes and costly B-batteries, has been unveiled.

This revolutionary new tubeless electronic wonder for the deaf is sound powered by three tiny miraculous transistors and cuts all battery costs 80%.

To acquaint the hard-of-hearing readers of this newspaper with what this amazing new invention, the transistor, means to them and how it enables them to hear again with a clarity and ease they never dreamed possible, full authoritative details are described in a fascinating new illustrated booklet. It will be sent in a plain wrapper without any cost or obligation.

To obtain your free copy, simply send your request to: Electronic Research Director, Dept. 869A, Beltone Hearing Aid Co., 2900 W. 36th St., Chicago 32, Ill. A postcard will do.

Will Report On School Bond Study

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Preliminary studies on a possible new $12,000,000 school bond issue, the first official move towards supplementing Atlanta's school expansion program, will be submitted Tuesday by Miss Ira Jarrell at a meeting of Board of Education committees.

Miss Jarrell said the surveys have not been completed but a tentative report will be ready for the 2 p. m. meeting.

The proposed bond issue, first since Atlanta voted a $9,000,000 school building fund in 1946, has been discussed for several months among board members.

21 MORE BUILDINGS

The new bonds would provide 21 additional buildings, regarded as imperative by 1955 to meet school population growth, and would also be used to complete portions of the 31 projects now under construction.

The State Building Authority has furnished $7,010,000 for these 31 projects but bids on some ran over the contract prices, necessitating city school officials to approve omission of certain facilities.

Completion of these facilities must be made to provide maximum service, they contend.

The regular monthly meeting of the board is scheduled for 3 p. m. Tuesday with routine matters up for consideration.

Open Sewer Bids

Bids on more than $500,000 worth of improvements were opened Monday by the Council's purchasing committee. Included were bids on three outfall sewers and improvements at the Clayton and South River sewage disposal plants. The bids are scheduled to be offered to the council for approval next Monday.

S. J. Curry & Co., Albany, was apparent low bidder for the sewage plant improvements, asking a total of $371,117. He bid $321,389 for the South River project and $49,728 for the Clayton improvement. In addition, bids were opened for outfall sewers on Avenue C., in the Rockdale area; on Philadelphia St. in the Cascade area, and on Clarendale Dr., N. W., near West Wesley Rd. Low bid was approximately $50,000.

R. W. Didschuneit was apparent low bidder for building a clubhouse for the tennis center under construction at Atlanta Memorial Park, and bids on 10 street paving projects to be made by issuing baby bonds totaling approximately $40,000. Under the baby bond plan, property owners pay for the improvement in annual installments.

Names Committee

Mayor Hartsfield Monday appointed a three-man council committee to study possible revision of procedures and committee set-up when the new 16-man aldermanic board becomes the city's legislative body next January. Councilman John A. White, author of the resolution proposing the study, Alderman Ed A. Gilliam and Councilman Ralph Huie comprise the committee. The new aldermanic board will replace the existing 18-member council and the nine-member aldermanic board.

Ordinance Proposals

Five proposals will be considered by Council's ordinance committee at a meeting at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Proposals include home rule, semi-annual inspections for motor vehicles, an ordinance to limit the term of the mayor to two terms, an ordinance requiring vendors of air-conditioning equipment to list those to whom sales are made, and the barring of shrubs or other obstruction to the view of motorists at street intersections.

Runs in Circles 2 Hours; Winded Fugitive Seized

Willie Jackson Ferguson, DeKalb County prisoner, Monday had two hours of freedom and plenty of exercise in an escape attempt, police said.

Ferguson, serving 12 months on burglary charges, leaped from a truck and fled near Emory University. Prison guards and DeKalb police rushed bloodhounds to the scene.

After a two-hour chase, Ferguson was surrounded in a wooded area near where he leaped from the truck. Officers said Ferguson was completely winded from running in circles and offered no resistance.

700 Launch Albany Parley Of Methodists

By MARJORY SMITH
Constitution Staff Writer

ALBANY, June 8—A simple and moving memorial service for nine Georgia ministers and four deceased widows of preachers opened the South Georgia Annual Conference of the Methodist Church here Monday night.

Some 700 official delegates and scores of visitors joined in the tribute to "our honored dead" in the new sanctuary of Albany's historic First Methodist Church.

Ceremonies, followed by the service of holy communion, set the reverent pattern for a planned week-long conference in which ministers and laymen of the 87-year-old South Georgia Conference will review a busy year and map plans for the future.

The Rev. Horace T. Freeman, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Church in Columbus, leading the communion service, called the cross of Christ "the everlasting sign that shall not be cut off—the sign promised by God for his people."

TWO SPEAKERS

Speakers at forthcoming sessions of the five-day meeting will include Bishop William T. Watkins of Louisville, Ky., president of the Southeastern College of Bishops, and Dr. Henry M. Bullock of Nashville, Tenn., executive secretary of the editorial division, board of education of the Methodist Church.

Bishop Arthur J. Moore of Atlanta is presiding over the conference.

During the next four days ministers and elected lay delegates from all over South Georgia will hear reports on work of laymen and women of the church and on progress of churches in membership and building.

Delegates will decide whether to continue two new programs launched during the past year—Methodist Expansion Day, a special one-day fund-raising campaign which raised some $280,000, and the United Evangelical Mission, which brought 12,000 new members into the church.

Atomic Medicine's Value Is Cited

By KATHERINE BARNWELL

Radioactive isotopes already have proved valuable in treatment of thyroid ailments, cancer and leukemia, and the field of atomic medicine offers "unlimited possibilities" in the future, an Atlanta physician said here Monday.

Dr. Walter Cargill, director of the isotope laboratory at the Atlanta VA Hospital and instructor in physiology and medicine at Emory University medical school, said scientists have "barely scratched the surface" in the use of radioactive isotopes in medicine.

He said the four isotopes of "chief usefulness" now are radioactive iodine, phosphorous, gold and cobalt—but he predicted in three or four years there will be "more isotopes of immediate usefulness."

Dr. Cargill is one of 11 Emory faculty members conducting a postgraduate course in the use of radioactive isotopes in clinical medicine for a group of doctors from throughout the Southeast.

Dr. Harry D. Bruner, professor of physiology at Emory and one of the instructors, said the two-week course which began Monday is "the first of its kind in the country." It will cover the use of specific isotopes in the diagnosis and treatment of disease, and patients selected for treatment with isotopes will be presented.

Dr. Cargill and Dr. Charles M. Huguley Jr., assistant professor of medicine and chairman of the university isotopes committee, listed three main uses of radioactive isotopes — research, diagnosis and treatment.

Dr. Huguley said radioactive iodine has proved beneficial in treating disorders of the thyroid gland, including hyperthyroidism (or an overactive thyroid).

Dr. Cargill said radioactive iodine also is used for control of cancer of the tyroid. He said its effect is the same as that of X-ray or radium in that it kills cancer cells. He said its advantage over X-ray is in the fact that you can "localize" the treatment much better.

Hugh Whites To Mark 48th Anniversary

JACKSON, Miss., June 8—(AP)—Gov. Hugh White said today he and Mrs. White will celebrate their 48th wedding anniversary Sunday by attending the Baptist Church in Providence, Ky., where they were married.

"My wife probably will want to shoot me for telling how long we've been married," the Mississippi governor commented, "but the years have been very happy and I am proud of them."

They were married June 14, 1905.

June is NATIONAL DAIRY MONTH

The Baby is Growing Up!

Dairying on a scientific farming basis has made great forward strides in Georgia in recent years. Modern new dairy farms and large herds of purebred cattle can be found throughout the State. Many acres formerly planted in row crops have been transformed into verdant pastures. Georgia's dairy industry has increased over 35 per cent in the last ten years.

Still there is great room for improvement. Georgia dairy farmers produce less than half of the total milk equivalent of all dairy products consumed, and our consumption is not up to the national average. All of the evaporated and dry milk solids we use, as well as practically all of the butter and cheese, comes from other states.

Yet Georgia offers the dairy industry many advantages. Mild climate makes year 'round grazing possible. Water is plentiful and the soil is good. Great markets are available, since our neighboring states are not producing all their own milk, and Georgia dairies are as close to the large Eastern cities as the mid-Western states. Georgia is demonstrating this potential growth now. While the country as a whole has the smallest number of milk cows in 20 years, the cows in Georgia herds increased 15,000 last year. Many individuals and groups within the State have helped to make this progress possible. The task of building our dairy industry deserves the support of every Georgian.

This is the 19th in a series of advertisements on Georgia's progress published by the Trust Company.

1. What evidence is there that the Congress which submitted and the state legislatures and conventions which ratified the 14th Amendment contemplated or did not contemplate, understood or did not understand, that it would abolish segregation in public schools?

THE UNDERSTANDING?

2. If neither the Congress in submitting nor the states in ratifying the 14th Amendment understood that compliance with it would require the immediate abolition of segregation in public schools, was it nevertheless the understanding of the framers of the amendment?

(a) That future Congresses might, in the exercise of their power under Section 5 of the amendment, abolish such segregation, or

(b) That it would be within the judicial power, in light of future conditions, to construe the amendment as abolishing such segregation of its own force?

IN JUDICIAL POWER?

3. On the assumption that the answer to questions 2 (a) and (b) do not dispose of the issue, is it within the judicial power, in construing the amendment, to abolish segregation in public schools?

4. Assuming it is decided that segregation in public schools violates the 14th Amendment,

(a) Would a decree necessarily follow providing that, within the limits set by normal geographical school districting, Negro children should forthwith be admitted to schools of their choice, or

(b) May this court, in the exercise of its equity powers, permit an effective gradual adjustment to be brought about from existing segregated systems to a system not based on color distinction?

DETAILED DECREES

5. On the assumption on which questions 4 (a) and (b) are based, and assuming further that this court will exercise its equity powers to the end described in question 4 (b),

(a) Should this court formulate detailed decrees in these cases;

(b) If so what specific issues should the decrees reach;

(c) Should this court appoint a special master to hear evidence with a view to recommending specific terms for such decrees;

(d) Should this court remand to the courts of first instance with directions to frame decrees in these cases, and if so what general directions should the decrees of this court include and what procedures should the courts of first instance follow in arriving at the specific terms of more detailed decrees?

Farouk's Sisters Lose Fight for Palaces

CAIRO, Egypt, June 8—(UP)—The three beautiful sisters of ex-King Farouk today lost their claims to the royal palaces of Egypt.

The Princesses Fawzia, Faiza and Faika had contended the palaces were the personal property of their father, the late King Fuad, and belonged to them by right of inheritance.

The state council, however, ruled against them and held that the palaces should be owned by the government.

Wilson Cites Danger Of Post-Truce Cutback

the war in Korea until June 30, 1954, compared to $12,100,000,000 in the Truman budget; and $9,600,000,000 for the Navy, compared to $11,300,000,000 in the Truman budget.

FUNDS ON HAND

Wilson recalled that all services have unexpended funds on hand, remaining from previous appropriations, holding that even the reduced amount of new money will provide them with generous cushions against emergency. He added that President Eisenhower and the National Security Council have approved the pending defense budget.

"He has approved the budget which we are proposing," Wilson told the subcommittee, "and the progress we expect to make in increasing the military strength of the nation, using funds we are now requesting together with funds remaining from previous appropriations—a total of approximately $99,000,000,000."

FUNDS' PURPOSE

Wilson said the funds envisaged in the Eisenhower estimates will provide "a good, virile Air Force." General Vandenberg testified last week that the proposed delay in building toward a strength of 143 wings would leave the country with a "second-best Air Force," presumably vis-a-vis the Soviet Union.

"I assure you gentlemen most emphatically that we are not going to have the second-best Air Force," Wilson said today. As long as I am responsible to this government and to the people of the nation for the Department of Defense, we are going to continue to have the best Air Force."

Later, he added that "under the proposed budget, we will continue to have the best fighters and bombers in the world in sufficient quantity to perform their assigned missions."

HASTY BUILDUP

The secretary's general thesis was that the Air Force, in its hasty build-up since the outbreak of fighting in Korea, has provided itself with more personnel and more bases than combat aircraft. The plateau he plans in the first two areas, he explained, should result in modern planes catching up with personnel and bases to the benefit of the Air Force's fighting effectiveness.

The current plan calls for a strength of 114 combat wings by June 30, 1954, and 120 by June 30, 1955. Previous Air Force planning aimed at 133 wings by June 30, 1954, and 143 by June 30, 1955, although some would be equipped with World War II aircraft. Wilson said the new plan will have all combat wings flying new planes by June 30, 1955.

ADEQUACY OF FUNDS

Senator Ferguson and Senator Thye (Rep., Minn.) questioned Wilson on adequacy of funds for research under the revised estimates. W. J. McNeil, assistant secretary of defense, replied for the secretary that $1,100,000,000 was spent by the armed forces in research and development last year, and that $1,300,000,000, was provided for next year.

Wilson commented that 'the scientists talk a lot about pure research," and recalled that Charles F. Kettering, former official of General Motors, had his own definition for pure science: if successful, it could not be of any possible use to the people who put up the money for it—that made it pure.

"I am not interested, as a military project, in why potatoes turn brown when they are fried," Wilson added.

Gen. Ridgway Scores Plane Weaknesses

those which the Soviet rulers could bring against us so great as to warrant no other conclusion than that a full-fledged Soviet attack within the near future would find the Allied command, Europe, critically weak to accomplish its present mission."

POINTS TO PROGRESS

In discussing he defense situation as of May 30 of this year with the situation when he assumed the supreme command a year ago, Ridgway cited distinct progress in scattered fields.

There now exists a unified command structure to control all Allied forces along a 4,000-mile front extending from northern Norway to the Caucasus, he pointed out. Likewise during the past year progress in the build-up of Allied combat forces has been "steady;" and more than half of the 125 airfields approved have been completed to a point where they could be used in an emergency and a fixed communications net is "beginning to take form."

South Korea Seething in Pact Protest

graphed leaflets which said, "Reject with death the Panmunjom conference."

Later, hundreds of girls surged past guards into U. S. Fifth Air Force headquarters compound. Some swarmed into the nearby correspondents' billets.

From the republic's provisional capital of Pusan, in Southeastern Korea, came reports of other demonstrations.

(In Washington, Ambassador You Chan Yang said today that "up to this minute" the South Koreans were determined to fight on alone if necessary.

The envoy's statement was made to a mid-afternoon news conference. He added, however, that he did not know what President Rhee would tell President Eisenhower and that this determination to fight on was "possibly subject to change."

President Rhee, tough, stubborn and schooled by life-long opposition to occupation forces in Korea, vowed in an interview that the Korean people would pay no attention to a truce "so long as the Chinese aggressors are allowed to remain anywhere inside the Korean Peninsula." He wanted all foreign troops withdrawn and a free hand to unify the country by force.

The 78-year-old chief executive labored on a reply to President Eisenhower, who called on him to accept an armistice and avoid any "reckless adventure."

Whether he would finally bow to Eisenhower's friendly but firm letter remained to be seen.

Kenya Outlaws Political Union

NAIROBI, June 8—(INS)—The British colonial government of Kenya announced today the outlawing of the Kenya African Union (KAU), the main native political organization.

Jomo Kenyatta, recently convicted and sentenced as a leader of the Mau Mau native terrorist society, had been head of KAU.

Agence France Presse said that Walter Odede, who succeeded Kenyatta as president of KAU, has been in prison for several weeks under terms of the martial law decree for prevention of subversive activities.

Security police also announced the killing of 16 alleged terrorists in the Nyeri district in the past 24 hours.

when the Allies announced that no prisoner would be forced to go back to Communism against his will.

The main terms of the agreement:

1. Prisoners who refuse to go home (some 48,500 Chinese and North Koreans) will be turned over in Korea to a five-nation neutral commission within two months of the armistice signing.

HEADED BY INDIA

2. The commission will be headed by India, and will include a representative and no more than 50 staff members each from Sweden, Switzerland, Poland and Czechoslovakia. India will furnish all troops for guard duty in the operation.

3. The commission will hold unrepatriated prisoners in neutral internment for 90 days while each side is allowed to send up to seven agents per 1,000 interned prisoners to try to persuade them to return home.

4. Prisoners will be free to go home or stay in custody of the commission after the "explanations." Disposition of those who stay will be referred to the peace conference to be convened within 90 days of the armistice signing.

5. If the political conference cannot settle the fate of the prisoners within 30 days, they automatically will become civilians, free to choose either release in Korea or resettlement in some ather country.

Lebanon Cabinet Decides Not To Quit

BEIRUT, Lebanon, June 8—(UP)—Premier Saeb Salam's government reversed its earlier decision to resign and decided tonight it would remain in office, thus reviving a political controversy stirred by the forthcoming general elections.

The cabinet announced this morning it was resigning after President Camille Chamoun supported opposition demands that ministers intending to run in the elections next month give up their cabinet posts.

WONDER DRUG DISCOVERED

Reader's Digest, McCalls, Acclaim Miracle-like Hexachlorophene.

KILLS certain skin bacteria FASTER than SULFA or PENICILLIN

DEX-O-FENE wonder ointment contains the new miracle drug hexachlorophene, praised by leading magazines and proven by many tests in hospitals and clinics by Doctors and Surgeons. Cooling DEX-O-PHENE is incredibly powerful both as an Antiseptic and Fungicide, yet so gentle can be used on the tender skin of babies. DEX-O-FENE will not stain as it "disappears." It gives you freedom from infection to a degree hitherto unknown. Reports show conclusively that this new Drug will clear up a host of skin irritations which have resisted previous treatments. The millions of Germs that multiply rapidly are always present to enter slight breaks in the skin and cause infections and a vast array of skin diseases. DEX-O-FENE quickly absorbed by the skin continues to kill these new bacteria for hours, thereby keeping your skin Germ free and surgically clean, and aiding by giving its relief to:

UGLY ACNE, ECZEMA, IMPETIGO, TETTER, PIMPLES, RASHES, CUTS, ATHLETE'S FOOT

On the above conditions, and on burns, dandruff, sores, blemishes, and ringworm, DEX-O-FENE works by killing on contact the germs, fungi or organisms contributing and irritating to the condition. Also, DEX-O-FENE is wonderfully soothing, yet has no unpleasant medicinal odor. So gentle it may be used under bandages if desired, and remember there is nothing faster, nor more effective than new DEX-O-FENE. Try it today. At your druggists.

Trial size $1.00 NOTE TO MOTHERS Large Economy Jar $3.00

Girls' State Picks Officers To Run 9 Mythical Cities

The 270 delegates to the Girls' State political convention at College Park Monday night staged city elections for nine mythical Georgia cities while learning to use the ballot and voting privilege.

Earlier, former Atlanta Mayor Roy LeCraw told the delegates that the United States will "pay dearly" for the concessions it has made "to achieve the cease-fire demanded by the American people" in Korea.

LeCraw, who served with the Air Force in Korea, pointed to the prisoner exchange clause as an "unwise concession" and warned of resumption of Red air attacks against the South Korean republic.

"WILL HURT PRESTIGE"

"I believe that the prisoner exchange provision will hurt our prestige in Asia," LeCraw said.

HOUSTON CITY

Irvin City: Mayor, June Goodwin; clerk, Joan Lindsey; treasurer, Joan McWaters; recorder, Marjory Stern; councilmen, Mary Lane Weaver, Marcine Harrell, Emily Sanders.

Soft Chairs Installed In Federal Jury Room

But the move to comfort was greeted with trepidation by one court official, who had waited hours, days and sometimes weeks for juries to render their verdicts.

"Those straight chairs did seem to encourage jurors to decide their cases quicker," he joked.

3 PEDESTRIANS

10 Persons Injured in Traffic Here

Three were pedestrians. They were listed as Mrs. Doris Mary Wright, 24, of 450 Woodward Ave., S. W., who was hit by a car at Boulevard and Memorial Drive, S. E., suffering injuries to the left arm and left leg. James Earl Brown, 15, of 102 Flora Ave., S. E., was struck at Memorial Drive and Trenton, suffering possible fracture of the right arm. Wilbur L. Walker, 34, of 319 Holderness St., S. W., pressman at Atlanta Paper Co., was hit at Forsyth and Marietta Streets. He suffered bruises.

Two were injured when the automobile in which they were riding struck a utility pole in front of 141 West Wieuca Rd., police said. They were John Henry McClure, 22, of 650 House Rd., N. E., recently discharged from the Army, and Jewell William Byrd, 46, of 215 West Wieuca Rd., a painter. Both were treated at Grady Hospital for lacerations and bruises.

A truck-trolley crash at Techwood Drive and Walton Street caused slight injury to two Union City residents. They were Sid A. Moore, 73, a restaurant operator, and James William McBride, 59, a retired rural mail carrier.

William Hansell Trammell, 22, of 711 Bernice St., S. W., a Gulf Oil salesman, received injuries to the left arm, hip and knee when struck by an auto in the 1500 block of Boulevard, officers said. The Rev. Fritz Rauschenburg, 75, of 604 Second Ave., Decatur, and Mrs. H. B. Boyd, 60, of 781 Moreland Ave, S. E., were slightly injured in a three-car crash at Fifth and Juniper Streets.

Boston's Mayor Hynes To Be Feted at Dinner

Drifted 4 Days in Gulf

NEW ORLEANS, June 8—(AP)—Two sailors who drifted in the Gulf of Mexico for four days after their schooner sank told today how their "spirit to survive" kept them alive.

Coast Guard officials said the men were Wallace S. Haines, 41, South Haven, Mich., a motor electrician, and Joseph F. deMontmollin Garcio, 33, Van Nuys, Calif., tool grinder.

The two men spent three days in life preservers, vainly waving at passing ships and a fourth on a dinghy before the fishing vessel Judy Ann picked them up about two and a half miles east of the Southwest Pass Coast Guard light station at the mouth of the Mississippi River.

Their 44-foot schooner, the De Lobo Del Mar, sank Wednesday morning, dumping them into the Gulf about 65 miles south of Pascagoula, Miss. They were the only ones aboard the boat.

"The water started coming in fast and our pumps were not sufficient to keep it out," he said.

By the next morning, the two were up to their necks in water and had to abandon ship. Haines was below decks at the time the ship sank and narrowly escaped going down with it, Gargio said.

Unified Korea Is Still Aim, Adlai Warns From Israel

TEL AVIV, Israel, June 8—(AP)—Adlai Stevenson urged the free world today to remember that, despite the imminence of a truce in Korea, its objective was still the unification of that country.

"Assuming that the major disputed points have been satisfactorily solved, there is nothing that now can prevent an armistice.

"I don't know what the future has in store for Korea. I hope we don't lose sight of the objective expressed by the United Nations for a united, independent and democratic Korea.

"I hope we don't let this change in Communist tactics put us to sleep or delay the execution of the free world's efforts for greater strength and resistance such as paid off in Korea."

6 Youths Charged With Vandalism At Vacant House

Six youths ranging in age from 11 to 16 Monday were turned over to juvenile authorities in connection with vandalism raids on a vacant house at 208 McDonough Blvd., S. E. The raids resulted in damage exceeding $5,000, police said.

Det. J. L. Carney, of the police juvenile squad, said furniture stored in the two-story frame building was smashed, windows broken and the ceiling pulled down. Carney said the youths admitted hurling rocks through windows and tossing knives at walls.

The owner, Mrs. M. A. Tingle, of 1610 Ponce de Leon Ave., N. E., discovered the damage when she went to see about having the building remodeled and redecorated, Carney said.

Ike Wants To Lift Ag Embargo

Proposes Butter, Peanuts Imports

Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, June 8—President Eisenhower proposed today to permit the importation of embargoed agricultural products, including 707,000 pounds of butter and 1,709,000 pounds of peanuts annually, in a move to encourage foreign trade.

Some permitted as well as prohibited products would be removed from the rather rigid restrictions of the Defense Production Act and permitted to enter the United States under the more liberal provisions of the reciprocal trade program.

NEW QUOTAS

What the President did was to issue a conditional proclamation setting new imports quotas for dairy products and a few oils. This proclamation and the quotas would go into effect on July 1 if Congress heeds the administration's plea to discard Section 104 of the Defense Production Act which requires the embargoes.

The Low Countries and Scandinavia apparently would benefit from the proposed new quotas. Canada and New Zealand probably would be hit somewhat, however, by a new quota that would slash cheddar cheese imports from 9,775,000 pounds annually to 2,780,100 pounds.

President Eisenhower himself, as well as members of Congress, have criticized elements of the farm price support program which have caused the accumulation of a vast surplus of government-owned butter.

FOLLOWS NEW POLICY

The proposal now as to butter and other products listed by the President is to fit them into the general framework of the reciprocal trade program and would conform with the Eisenhower administration's stress on "trade not aid" for the Allies.

The final tests both on the proposals made today by the White House and on the reciprocal trade program will come up in Congress shortly. The Senate discarded Section 104 of the Defense Prodution Act when it passed it, but the House restored it.

Tomorrow the House will vote on the bill that would extend the act for a year beyond its present expiration date of June 30, and the fate of Section 104 will be decided either in this House vote or, if it is included in the bill, in conference deliberations with the Senate. The prospects for discarding the section, as the administration desires, were said to be good.

2 Slender N. Y. Policewomen Win Battle With Hefty Father, Son; Crowd Stares

NEW YORK, June 8—(AP)—Two slender policewomen battled it out today with two men almost twice their weight before an interested crowd that refused to help the women.

Anne Gilchrist, a blonde who weighs in at 117 pounds, and Joan Hooter, a sleek 120-pound brunette, touched off the fight when they tried to arrest a suspected bookmaker, Rocco Gramarino, 215 pounds.

The women chased Gramarino into a building. Gramarino started running upstairs. His wind gave out after he had reached the fifth flight. The women brought him down but found the door blocked by Gramarino's 175-pound son, Richard.

No one did.

Miss Gilchrist still had the situation in hand when three patrolmen and a radio car arrived to take her captives in custody.

Red China Won't Win Seat, Lodge Predicts

NEW YORK, June 8—(AP)—UN delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. said tonight the United States would do "everything necessary" to keep Red China out of the United Nations.

He indicated this might include the veto, if the veto could be legally invoked, but he acknowledged he had not gone into the procedural ins and outs yet.

One reporter reminded him that former Secretary of State Dean Acheson had taken the position that the veto could not be applied to keep Red China out of the Security Council since this was a procedural matter.

"I don't concede that at all," he said. "No sir."

Lodge expressed confidence the Chinese Communists would not gain admission to the U. N.

He also expressed the view that the question of Chinese representation in the U. N. should not be discussed at the Far Eastern political conference that will be called after the expected Korean armistice.

Asked whether anything else outside Korea should be taken up at the conference, Lodge said:

"The normal expectation would be that it would confine itself to Korea, but I don't know that anything definite's been settled on that yet."

"I don't think we ever have committed ourselves to kill our young men in order to unify Korea. . . . I think if we get an armistice now where we are it will constitute a repulsion of the aggression that took place. Whether that's a victory or not is a matter of how you define words."

Bungling Bandit Wounds Partner, Misses Payroll

Hall and the unidentified bandit trailed Ernest Oppenheimer from a bank, where he had withdrawn $1,200, to a cigar store. Both drew revolvers and ordered Oppenheimer and the store owner, Moe Katz, to put up their hands.

U. S. Fine Voted on Future Non-Cleared UN Workers

By C. P. TRUSSELL
New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, June 8—A bill providing severe fines or imprisonment for American citizens who from now on take employment with the United Nations or related organizations without first receiving security clearance from the attorney general was passed without an opposing vote by the Senate today.

It was sent to the House of Representatives where at key sources it was predicted that the measure, although having been criticized sharply at the State and Justice departments, probably would be passed there, too.

The bill, sponsored by Senator McCarran, Democrat of Nevada and former chairman of the Senate internal security subcommittee that investigated alleged subversive infiltration of Americans into the United Nations secretariat, seeks to write into permanent law measures now operating under presidential executive order—to get and keep American Communists and their sympathizers out of the United Nations.

In a collateral action, the Senate investigations subcommittee for a thrd time had before it for a public hearing Frank Coe, for seven years until last Dec. 3 secretary of the international monetary fund, a United Nations specialized agency.

Coe refused, under the constitutional protection of a witness from being forced to testify against himself, to say whether during a recent trip to Mexico he had discussed shipments of arms to Communists with anyone.

The witness said he had gone to Mexico, to Cuba, to Nassau and to Canada in search of employment. He noted that two days after he had invoked the Constitution's Fifth Amendment last Dec. 1 to refuse answers to questions by the McCarran subcommittee regarding present or past Communist activities or associations, he had been discharged from his $20,000-a-year post with the monetary fund.

Senator McCarthy, Republican of Wisconsin and chairman of the Senate investigations subcommittee, announced in the course of the hearing that immigraton authorities at all American borders had been "alerted" to prevent Coe from leaving the country again at points where passports were not required.

This, Coe called "outrageous." He held that it constituted "a blacklisting from employment." On this premise, he said, he would answer no questions concerning identification of or matters discussed with persons during his two months of traveling. He said his conscience would not permit the involvement of others.

OES Opens Convention With Drills

By JEAN ROONEY

Precision drills given by more than 300 members of the Eastern Star and Masons opened the annual state convention of the Order of Eastern Star Monday evening at the Municipal Auditorium.

More than 2,000 delegates and their families from over Georgia viewed the uniformed drill teams composed of grand pages, grand rosettes and grand sentinels, orders of the women's organization and of the Masons.

Directors of the marching teams were Mrs. Lois Rogers, Atlanta; Mrs. Susie Coley, Atlanta, and Curtis Steed, Hapeville.

OFFICIALLY OPENED

The convention was officially opened by Miss Eva Richardson, Lawrenceville, worthy grand matron of Georgia, and John C. Pinson, Rome, worthy grand patron.

An inspirational pageant with a cast of 100 and a choir accompanied by three pianists also highlighted the Monday evening program.

"The Eastern Star and the Bible in Our Hearts" was the pageant's title.

Out-of-state officials of the Eastern Star, numbering more than 50, were introduced to the convention by Miss Richardson. Mayor Hartsfield and Governor Talmadge also attended the opening ceremonies.

TUESDAY ADDRESSES

Coming up Tuesday at 9:30 a. m. are addresses by Miss Richardson and Mr. Pinson and reports by state officers.

Mrs. Ruth Jones of Waterbury, Conn., international head of the organization, will attend a meeting at 8 p. m. Tuesday at the auditorium.

Mrs. Allen Is Given Shower

By YOLANDE GWIN

Flowers of every description, shrubs of every size and even garden tools will be constant reminders to Mrs. Marion H. Allen Jr., of the devotion of her many friends.

When Mr. and Mrs. Allen moved into their new home at 560 Hillside Drive., N. W., their next project was landscaping. But they reckoned without the news that was being spread among their friends by "a little bird."

The "little bird," a devoted friend of Mrs. Allen's, corralled some thirty-five young matrons and the group staged a surprise friendship garden shower for her the day after she moved into her new home.

The workers, donned work clothes (some wore blue jeans), arrived at the Allen home ready for work. Plants were set out, the lawn cleaned, potted plants were arranged on the porch and packages of seed were on hand to be used at the discretion of Mrs. Allen.

Wheelbarrows, later given Mrs. Allen, were filled with ice cold bottled drinks, while baskets of potato chips provided a refreshing snack during work hours.

The event was marked by an old-fashioned spend-the-day party after the actual work was accomplished was enjoyed by the girls. Only one man was present, Frank Smith, who brought Mrs. Allen a present too. It was an envelope containing a suggested landscape plan.

Close Collars Discarded for Crisp Coolness

By AGNES McCARTY

A man can now discard close collars in favor of cool, soft tailored shirts without forfeiting that look of crisp efficiency he needs in business.

Practical Father's Day gifts are shirts that help keep Dad cool while he faces a board meeting or a tough sales prospect. Many have short sleeves and are styled from cool batistes, sheer chambray, soft Oxford cloth, lightweight pique and fine madras weaves.

Short point collars are favorites but they're followed by spreads with rounded points and button downs. Most of them are convertible for wear without a tie that gets tucked into a man's pocket when he reaches his club for his before-dinner relax session.

Special weaving processes keep collars in shape during the most wet-necked days. Prices run about $3 for short-sleeved models and $4 for long sleeves.

The line-up of sport shirts for Father's Day giving is as inexhaustible as mother's patience. One lively number of check and dot cotton may give Mom a few nervous moments about the cause for hubby's gay mood. But even fancied competition may spark an old flame.

A Western pattern print shirt of rayon retails for $3.65 and helps Dad gain prestige over Roy and Hopalong. Solid color rayons and cottons achieve individuality with slubbed and nubby surfaces. Available in tan, mustard and chartreuse is a popular, shantung-weave shirt selling for $4.95.

For the post-crew haircut boys who haven't yet developed "haberdashery hesitancy" and prefer shirts on the bright side, designers offer loud cotton stripes and plaids.

Awning stripes on madras cotton will camouflage a beach wolf. He can sneak up on beauties disguised as an umbrella. The short collar of this shirt stands up when buttoned yet opens to a notched lapel when top button is undone. Price is $5.95.

Varied-striped checks are used in a no-seam construction collar shirt that lies smooth and sleek no matter how hot the man under. Sells for $5.95.

Graduated vertical stripes are offered in a thick-and-thin textured cotton shirt with a convertible collar. Bright colors include blue-melon-navy, sand-brown-green, and gray-charcoal-yellow. Priced at $4.95.

WHO CAN RESIST PIE AND A CUP OF COFFEE?
Easy-to-Make Pie Uses Pudding Mix and Coconut

By JEANNE HIGGINS

Who can resist a piece of pie and a cup of coffee?

To set the scene for contentment, give your family or the man in your life a piece of home-made pie and top it off with a cup of coffee. No one can turn down this sure-fire combination.

FUN WITH FOODS

This Almond Cream Pie is about the easiest you will find when it comes to preparation or eating. Vanilla pudding mix is flavored with chopped toasted almonds and almond extract and poured into a coffee coconut shell.

The shell is also a quick process made with shredded coconut, butter and strong coffee.

ALMOND CREAM PIE

1 pkg. vanilla pudding mix
½ cup chopped toasted almonds
½ teaspoon almond extract
Coffee Coconut Shell

1. Prepare pudding mix as directed on package; stir in almonds; add almond extract. 2. Cool slightly, stirring once or twice. 3. Pour into Coffee Coconut Shell. Cool.

COFFEE COCONUT SHELL

1. Empty contents of 1 can moist-pack shredded coconut into bowl. 2. Add enough strong, hot coffee to barely cover. 3. Let stand 5 minutes then drain. 4. Pat dry between layers of absorbent paper. 5. Rub 2 tablespoons butter or margarine on bottom and sides of 9-inch pie pan and press coconut on butter. 6. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F., 10 minutes. Cool.

Miss McCalmon, Mr. Stembridge To Be Married

Mr. and Mrs. Grady McCalmon of Hapeville announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Marian Joyce McCalmon, to Thomas Marion Stembridge, son of Mrs. W. F. Stembridge and the late Mr. Stembridge of Hapeville.

The wedding will take place at 4 o'clock Sunday, June 14, at Hapeville Methodist Church, with the Rev. James J. Sneed officiating.

Miss Hoar Is Wed At Church

Miss Nancy Lee Hoar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Hoar of New Rochelle, N. Y., formerly of Atlanta, was married to Ensign George J. Gunning Jr., USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gunning of Atlanta, at the Church of the Holy Family, New Rochelle. Monsignor Charles E. Fitzgerald officiated at nuptial mass.

The bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over white satin, with a Juliet cap of matching lace and a finger-tip veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis and orchids, entertwined with an antique silver rosary which belonged to her maternal grandmother.

Miss Judith Hoar was her sister's maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Misses Joan and Barbara Gunning of Atlanta, Miss Celia Geoghegan of New Rochelle, and Miss Joanne Leahy of Worcester, Massachusetts.

J. Thomas Gunning was his brother's best man, and ushers were William Reese of Charlotte, Daniel O'Leary of Savannah, Carl A. Nix Jr. of Atlanta, and Leo J. Hoar of New Rochelle.

Miss Wills Is Wed to Mr. Campbell

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Wills of Alpharetta announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Martha Jane Wills, to Wilson Lee Campbell of Ben Hill, son of the late Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Campbell.

Home Shoe-Shine

Shoes can be given a more effective shine at home by using liquid and paste polishes together. The liquid polish is applied liberally so that every crevice and indentation is coated. After the coating has dried, apply paste wax. With all pores and openings in the leather sealed, the paste wax remains on the surface.

Honor Society Taps Miss Tate

Miss Bettye Tate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Tate, 38 Atlanta Ave., S. E., was recently tapped for membership in "Z" Club, highest freshman honor society for women at the University of Georgia.

President of her dormitory, Bettye was also chosen as resident URSA for the coming year. She is a member of Triangle, highest honor in Triquetra, the nonsorority organization; sweetheart of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity; Pandora Beauty Review; Homecon Club.

Lone Prairee Saddle Songs

If you don't drink too long or too deeply the draughts of world news these days, there are lots of things to cheer you.

For instance, I'm all buoyed up over the report from Texas that they're building a Cadillac-type saddle with a built-in radio to keep lonesome cowboys from being lonesome. Just think what this will mean to the cowhands on the lone prairee. They will no longer look to their dogies for company because there'll be "My Friend Irma" and "Our Miss Brooks" for the asking. They may even give up singing themselves, with the voice of Vaughn Monroe or Perry Como coming out of their saddlebags.

When I first heard about these radio saddles I was inclined to shed a tear for the lost solitude of the cowboy. But, working a 40-hour week, as cowhands are probably working now, he probably has so little solitude anyhow that it makes him nervous to be out there all alone with the cows. He will welcome the news round-ups and the persuasive patter of the commercial readers. And maybe the cows will like it, too.

And while I was being cheered by that particular piece of news, I got a letter from Mr. Cam J. Lewis, head of the gourd department of the Lee County Fair, which is held annually in Pennington Gap, Va. It seems that I have been a nasty old alarmist on the shortage of gourds.

Mr. Lewis is a great gourd man. In fact he had 200 dipper gourds last year, all of which were carried off by friends, I hasten to add. And he has 300 flournishing gourd vines this year.

"You see," he says smugly, "what we do here in Virginia. Come up and see us and our gourds."

Actually, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis are old Atlantans themselves. They lived here in 1912 and 1913. They didn't say but they were doubtlessly attracted to Virginia by gourds, judging from the variety and numbers which were displayed at last year's Lee County Fair.

The names listed in the exhibit catalogue were wonderful. There were dipper gourds, long-handled ones, soap gourds, martin guords, the bottleneck, the bugle, the banjo and the Cave Man gourd.

They had a fine exhibit, giving ribbons and cash prizes in 12 different gourd classes, and they are looking for an even bigger display this year. "Bring out your gourds and come to the fair," the catalogue urges.

It's a well-nigh irresistible invitation and if the gourd seeds which I planted come up, which doesn't seem likely now, I may have to spend the entire fall touring the mountain fairs, exhibiting my gourds. Out of loyalty, I must warn Mr. Lewis, I'm bound to give the Georgia Mountain Fair, to be held in Hiawassee in August, first chance at my gourds, if any.

Stay-at-Home Impetus Cues Practicality in Game Tables

By DOTTY LUNDY

While sheer lack of nothing better to do used to keep the family home evenings, people today stick to the home fires after dark through choice. Television, a survey shows, can largely be credited with encouraging the home-loving habit.

Taking their cue from this stay-at-home impetus, furniture designers are keeping game rooms or nooks in mind. Practicality is the keynote in their new pieces with surfaces of such durable materials as cork, formica, micarta or glass which with stand spilled ginger ale to domino scratches.

One manufacturer has come up with a card table with a sliding compartment to hold soda pop.

The steadily rising costs of home construction, coupled with open-plan rooms and fewer interior walls brings novel furniture ideas. For a complete privacy, where mother and dad can relax, one designer offers a sociable table and chair set for the master bedroom, prescribed for gin rummy.

How will YOU look in a bathing suit this summer?

LOSE UGLY FAT FAST
SWIFTLY • SURELY • SAFELY • SCIENTIFICALLY
FROM CHIN • HIPS • BUST • BUTTOCKS • WAISTLINE • THIGHS
WHERE IT SHOWS MOST

You can be the Thin Twin of your Stout Self when you lose ugly fat fast where it shows most the New CAL-O-METRIC Way

Be The THIN TWIN of Your STOUT SELF

HANDSOMER! HAPPIER! HEALTHIER!

The New CAL-O-METRIC Way To WEIGHT CONTROL Automatically Helps Re-adjust Your "Appestat," the Appetite-Regulator in Your Brain . . . to Overcome Overeating, the Only Known Cause of Overweight . . . thus Controlling Your Weight . . . Without Abnormal Hunger Pangs, or Your Money Back.

How would you like to lose every abnormal ounce of ugly, grotesque fat on your otherwise attractive body . . . become, in a few, short, dramatic weeks, a new, handsomer, more magnetic and socially desirable personality? How would you like to feel better than you have felt in years . . . a more vigorous, confident, happier woman or man, from whom the burden of a depressing weight seems suddenly to have lifted? And, finally, how would you like to decrease your chances of dying prematurely, by as much as 50%?

Doctors now know that, located in the hypothalmus of your brain is the appetite-regulating mechanism of your body, called the "Appestat." When this "Appestat" is in normal working order, you tend to eat no more calories than your body needs for energy. But, when this appetite regulator gets out of order and is set too high, you tend to overeat, to stoke your body with more fat-building calories than you can burn-up as energy.

The new CAL-O-METRIC Way To WEIGHT CONTROL is the sane, scientific way to streamline your body, to lose ugly fat fast where it shows most . . . without drugs, fad diets, exercise or massage.

Take the new CAL-O-METRIC Way To WEIGHT CONTROL and you enjoy three generous, delicious, perfectly-balanced meals plus a bedtime snack each day, with all the vitamins, minerals, proteins and food nutrients you need in correctly balanced proportions. Take the CAL-O-METRIC Way and, even before you experience a substantial overall weight loss, you'll start losing ugly fat where it shows most. Take the CAL-O-METRIC Way and you'll help re-adjust your "Appestat." You'll follow the true, basic principle that can make your loss of weight permanent.

Take the CAL-O-METRIC Way today, and you take the road that can lead only to a handsomer, happier, healthier existence tomorrow. Start, now! Before you realize it your "Appestat" will have readjusted itself to normal. Before you know it your mirror, your family and your friends will tell you those ugly excess pounds have melted away. And in their place you'll find the new you, the trim, thin twin of your old stout self. Start the CAL-O-METRIC Way To WEIGHT CONTROL, today! Start looking lovelier, feeling better, living longer, tomorrow!

TOO SURGING A WELCOME CAN TERRIFY HIM
Parents Should Remember Children Are Naturally Reticent

MARCIA WINN

Children Naturally Reticent

The telephone rang. Mary, her mother said, wanted someone to play with.

Mary lived a few doors away but she was only 3 and never before had come calling alone. Jane was 4 and somewhat shy. The two children had played together once or twice, but Jane's mother was a little worried. She wanted to be sure they hit it off nicely.

Out she hurried. "Hello, Mary," she said. "How nice of you to come over." Mary, who had been making a slow but steady advance toward the sandbox, froze in her tracks.

Welcoming mother picked up Mary, held her high in the air, kissed her. "Ugh," said Mary. "Do you want me to kiss you again?" welcoming mother gushed, a trifle giddy with exuberance. "Ugh," said Mary. Welcoming mother kissed, Mary squirmed.

NO RESPONSE

"Let's all swing," welcoming mother said heartily, giving Mary a heave into a swing. Mary held on for dear life, hung her head low, and looked wretched.

Finally welcoming mother came to her senses. "Do you want me to go inside?" she asked, most unnecessarily. Mary nooded. W. M. complied.

At last Jane wandered out and began picking dandelions. She began weaving them into the chains of the swing. Mary stooped down and began picking dandelions. She began weaving hers into the chains of the other swing.

NATURAL RETICENCE

Too surging a welcome can terrify him.

Let the child come to you. Left alone, he will, in time, but he cannot be rushed. He has to feel his way on this very unknown ground with this very unknown person.

MARY HAWORTH

Husband's Playboy Life Brings Grief to Family

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: At 40, after 22 years of marriage, I am in the midst of divorce proceedings. I have four children and expect another soon.

My husband, Dale, is a career service man. During our first 10 years of marriage he was a hardworking steady person. But even then I noticed a dormant weakness for drink and playboy tendencies.

The past 10 years have been a nightmare. There was always another woman, heavy drinking, nonsupport, physical abuse and threats and attempts to kill me. There were several separation agreements, a hearing before a Southern judge—who recommended reconciliation for the children's sake—broken promises, regrets and so on. Finally he landed in a psychiatric hospital for three months, then returned home for recuperative reasons — physical and financial.

Today he is back in his whirl—a new and expensive car, much drinking and living with a married woman.—C.F.

DEAR C. F.: You say the marriage went well enough for the first decade, then became a nightmare. That would have been in 1943, about the time Dale was doing his stint as a naval officer—which indicates that he was demoralized by the assignment.

His weakness for drink and playboy tendencies, evident earlier, are traits of the immature escapist person. Obviously Dale hadn't the emotional stability or strength of will to meet the tests of being an officer.

If you'd had a smaller family, been a tougher dame, more self-reliant, and had opened the door when he wanted out, Dale might have given you less trouble. His hostility grew as he failed your need of his love and allegiance.

Apart from Dale you'll be able to plan coherently for the children's welfare and to regain your self-esteem and moral composure, as you can't while trying to figure in his chaotic love life. Fortunately, at 40 you are quite young enough to rally completely from the grief he has caused you and go on to a good new chapter of experience. You've done your best with him. Angels can do no more. For daily spiritual invigoration, study Emmet Fox's final book "Stake Your Claim" (Harper & Brothers).

Downward Trend Noted In Retail Store Sales

Drop Reported Despite Increase In Demand for Home Appliances

By ALEX JOINER

A downward trend was predominant in consumer buying at reporting Georgia retail outlets in April, the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta reported Monday.

Household appliance sales scored a 13 per cent gain over the same month last year, but department and furniture store sales were down 3 per cent.

The drop in department store sales was attributed to declines of 6 per cent and 5 per cent, respectively, in cash and charge sales, which dollar-wise more than offset a 24 per cent rise in installment sales.

Columbus stores experienced the largest decline with a drop of 9 per cent, followed closely by decreases of 8 per cent in Augusta, six per cent in Rome, 3 per cent in Macon and 2 per cent in Atlanta.

ATLANTA, MACON UP

Atlanta and Macon registered moderate increases in furniture sales, but they were offset by larger decreases in Columbus, Savannah and other cities in the state.

There was slight change in the distribution of cash and credit sales between April of last year and this.

Department store credit sales increased from 57 per cent to 58 per cent of total sales and at furniture stores, credit sales advanced from 90 per cent to 91 per cent of total sales.

GEORGIANS OWE MORE

Georgians, however, owned more for their credit purchased at the end of April than a year earlier. This was evidenced by increases of 17 per cent in installment accounts receivable at both department and furniture stores. Charge accounts receivable at household appliance stores also climbed 17 per cent over the year ago level.

Georgia consumers also are taking longer to pay their debts this year than last, the report points out. This is indicated by a slight drop in installment account collection ratios.

A year ago, both department and furniture store consumers were liquidating installment indebtedness in 12 months. This year, such debts are outstanding 13 months at department stores and 14 months at furniture stores.

Grains Stage Mild Rally

CHICAGO, June 8—(AP) — Grains responded to the news a truce in Korea was very near with a sprightly little rally on the Board of Trade today.

The advance was paced by wheat, which took to the upside fight from the opening bell. Other grains were not so certain as to what the trend should be. Soybeans and the near-by corn contracts started lower and spent some time before joining wheat on the advance.

Wheat closed 2⅛-2⅞ higher, corn 1¼-1⅞ higher, oats ½-1¾ higher, rye 1½-2¼ higher, soybeans 2 to 3½ higher and lard unchanged to 13 cents a hundred pounds higher.

The market's action was not too surprising to grain men. It often happens, they explained, that a market will discount a forthcoming event and then when the event becomes official the price trend will reverse itself. For some time grains have been discounting a truce in Korea by slumping.

Business In Brief

Merrell H. Collier, formerly general attorney for Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Co., has become associated with the law firm of Robert P. McLarty, it was announced Monday. A graduate of the University of Georgia and Harvard Law School, Collier had been associated with Southern Bell since 1936. Eugene Simons continues as an associate in the McLarty firm which has offices in the Healey Building.

BANK NAMES WOMAN

Eleanor Jane Thornton has been elected assistant cashier of the Citizens and Southern Buckhead Bank, James M. Shepherd, president, announced Monday. Miss Thornton, native of Elberton and alumna of GSCW, is the fourth woman in the Atlanta area and sixth in the C&S banks of Georgia to become a C&S officer. Her election is an indication of the place women are assuming in the financial business world, Shepherd said.

Profit-Taking Eases Cotton

NEW YORK, June 8—(AP)—Cotton futures closed 30 cents a bale lower to 5 cents higher today. Liquidation brought early declines, but mill buying later reversed the trend. The market moved up as much as 95 cents a bale from lows of the day before, easing on late profit taking.

Mill covering in futures was associated with a continued good demand for some types of cotton goods extending into the first quarter of next year. Even prospects of an early Korean truce failed to dampen inquiry for cloth, dealers commented. Some mills were said to have sold substantial yardages, following a good business in first-quarter print cloth on Friday last week estimated as high as 20 million yards.

Mills bought deferred future trading months against raw cotton needs later in the year. The weather in the cotton belt was mostly clear and favorable for cotton progress. Switching operations from nearby July to later months, which has been active recently, slowed somewhat today.

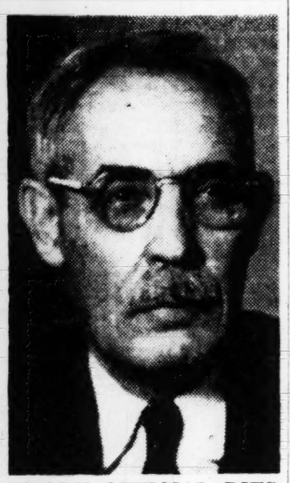
Stocks Sag At Close as Sales Rise

New York Times News Service Special to The Atlanta Constitution

NEW YORK, June 8—Even the news of the signing of the prisoners-of-war agreement could not shake stock traders out of their "wait-and-see" attitude today.

Stock prices drifted irregularly lower as trading fell to the 1,000,000-share level. As measured by the New York Times composite average of 50 stocks, the list dipped 0.28 to 176.56.

Emory U.'s Dr. Stipe Dies at 67



EMORY OFFICIAL DIES
Dr. J. Gordon Stipe

Dr. John Gordon Stipe, vice-president of Emory University and a member of the little band of teachers who moved the institution to Atlanta in 1914, died of a heart attack Monday afternoon at his home on North Decatur Rd., N. E.

One of Emory's most distinguished graduates, Dr. Stipe had been ill for several months. He was 67.

Funeral services will be held in the Theology Chapel at Emory at 5 p. m. Dr. W. A. Smart, will officiate. Burial will be in Decatur cemetery.

The university will be closed Tuesday afternoon in tribute to the man who served her longer than any other man in Emory's history.

SINCE 1911

A member of the faculty and administration since 1911, Dr. Stipe became an assistant professor in romance languages in 1914, after helping move the institution from Oxford when it was granted a university charter.

Only one of the group who helped move the university, Dr. Goodrich C. White, president, remains in active service.

"No man contributed more than Dr. Stipe to the difinition and maintenance of Emory's academic standards," President White said.

TRUE SCHOLAR

"He possessed all the gifts and instincts of the true scholar and would have achieved distinction in the field of scholarship had he not chosen to give himself in the administrative work of building the university."

To the hundreds of fellow workers and thousands of former Emory students Dr. Stipe's death comes as "a deep sense of personal loss," President White said.

Dr. Stipe was born in Carroll County on Sept. 26, 1885, son of Henry N. and Mary Steed Stipe. He received his A.B. from Emory-at-Oxford in 1907.

IN CUBA

After three years on the faculty of Candler College in Havana, Cuba, he returned to Emory to teach romance languages.

Five years later he became registrar, the position in which he was best known to thousands of students.

Dr. Stipe had held more titles than any other administrator in the university's history. In 1939 he took on the newly created job of director of admissions, and four times had served as acting dean of Emory's College of Arts and Sciences.

In 1941 he served as associate dean and division executive of the Emory-at-Valdosta branch. In the summer of 1948 he was acting dean of the graduate school and in the fall was named Emory's first dean of the faculties.

He also became vice-president of the university in 1948. In 1950 the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred on him by Mercer University.

THREE CHILDREN

Dr. Stipe was married in 1911 to Miss Annie Zuelika Dillard, who died in 1924. They had three children. He married for the second time in 1941 to Miss Nell B. Parker, daughter of Dr. Franklin N. Parker, Dean Emeritus of Emory's Candler School of Theology.

Holder of almost every academic honor, Dr. Stipe was awarded the honorary degree doctor of laws of Mercer University in 1950. In 1952, Birmingham Southern College made him doctor of letters.

CHARTER MEMBER

Dr. Stipe was a charter member of Emory's chapter of Phi Beta Kappa. While a student, he lettered in football and baseball and was a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary leadership fraternity.

He held high offices in numerous educational associations, including the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and the Georgia Association of Colleges.

He is survived by his wife; two daughters, Miss Zellita Stipe, New York City, and Mrs. Don E. Eyles, Memphis, Tenn.; one son, Dr. J. G. Stipe Jr., Randolph-Macon College, Lynchburg, Va.; one sister, Mrs. Zooney Martin, Carrollton, and one nephew, Dr. Harvey Stipe, Ft. Myers, Fla.

River Yields Body of Boy After 7 Hours

A seven-hour search for 3-year-old Jimmy David Glover of Smyrna, who disappeared from the bank of the Chattahoochee River Sunday afternoon while on a fishing party with his parents, ended in tragedy early Monday.

A Robbins Field airman discovered his small body in five feet of water only a few yards from where his mother had last seen him.

According to city detectives W. D. Browning and J. W. Pack, the child wandered away after his mother dozing beside the river, half a mile below Riverside Road, N. W.

Jimmy will be buried Tuesday at Crest Lawn Memorial Park following funeral services at the Fellowship Baptist Church at 4 p. m. The Rev. V. C. Jenkins will officiate.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Mr. John G. Kelley. Dear loving husband and father. You left us one year ago (today) June 9, 1953. Gone, dear loving Grady, how we miss your smiling face, but you left us to remember. No one on earth can take your place, a happy home we once enjoyed. How sweet your memory still, but death has left a loneliness the world can never fill.

MRS. JOHN G. KELLEY, Wife,

U.S. Cleared in Texas City Suits

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, June 8—The Supreme Court decided, 4 to 3, today that the United States is not liable to pay some $200,000,000 in damage claims growing out of the disastrous 1947 explosion in Texas City, Texas.

The decision on a test case heads off 273 suits filed against the United States by 8,485 claimants after the explosion, described as the "greatest peacetime disaster since the San Francisco earthquake.

Justice Reed and the majority agreed with Justice department attorneys that the government is immune from the claims under the circumstances. Justice Jackson wrote a dissent in which he was joined by Justices Black and Frankfurter. Justitces Douglas and Clark did not participate in the case.

On April 6, 1947, a French ship, taking on fertilizer-grade ammonium nitrate at the Texas City docks caught fire and blew up. This precipitated a series of explosions that leveled the dock area and rocked the city. Before the fires were put out two days later, more than 500 persons had been killed and 3,000 more injured.

The nearly 300 court actions brought against the government sought recovery for deaths, personal injuries and property damage on grounds that the government was negligent in the manufacture and distribution of the chemical, and failed to issue proper warning of dangers involved in handling it.

The fertilizer, known as FGAN, was made at surplus Army munitions plants in Nebraska and Iowa, and was being exported to European countries under the foreign aid program.

The several suits were ordered consolidated for trial on the common issue of liability, and the case selected was that of Elizabeth H. Dalehite and Henry G. Dalehite Jr., widow and son of a businessman who was killed in the explosion. Mrs. Dalehite sued for $60,000 damages, and her son for $15,000.

These damages were sought under terms of the federal tort claims act which makes the United States liable for "the negligent or wrongful act or omission of any employee of the government" while on duty.

Judge T. M. Kennerly of the U. S. District Court at Houston ruled that the United States was negligent and liable for damages. His decision was overruled by the U. S. Circuit Court in New Orleans, and the case came to the Supreme Court on the appeal of a group of claimants.

QUEEN ARRIVES FOR OPERA—LONDON, June 8. Queen Elizabeth arrives at Covent Garden Opera House Monday night to hear a new opera, "Gloriana," which was dedicated to her by Britain's leading modern composer, Benjamin Britten. She is accompanied by her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh.

Back Ouster of Pastor Flock Wanted

MONTREAT, N. C., June 8—(AP). The firing of a young North Carolina minister against the wishes of his congregation today was upheld by the general assembly of the Southern Presbyterian Church.

With 13 of 31 members protesting, a judicial commission of the assembly ruled that Orange Presbytery had the authority to dismiss the Rev. Charles M. Jones from the Chapel Hill Presbyterian Church.

An Orange Presbytery commission fired Mr. Jones because it said "the interest of religion imperatively demands it."

Members of the church, located at the home of the University of North Carolina, claimed the investigation was improperly conducted and said Mr. Jones was dismissed because of his liberal views on race relations and other social views.

Although the commission said the dismissal will continue in effect, it will be neecssary for the Presbytery to hold a formal trial in the case if either Mr. Jones or the Chapel Hill church requests it.

The case had attracted wide attention throughout the denomination. It came before the church's highest court on a complaint against an order of the North Carolina synod requiring the Presbytery to hold a new hearing.

Evangelist Billy Graham reminded the assembly tonight of the church's mission in evangelism. He said the church must be "a revolution for honesty, good work and integrity."

By vote of 174 to 146, the assembly this afternoon approved the use of the revised standard version Bible text along with the King James version and Sunday School literature.

The issue of reunion of the Southern church with the Presbyterian Church of the U. S. and the United Presbyterian Church is the big issue to be settled before the assembly adjourns tomorrow. Indications are the commision will approve a proposal to submit a plan of reunion to the 84 Presbyteries for study. The actual reunion would not come before 1956.

Standing committee reports, including a $5,743,774 budget for 1954, also were approved.

Christ Scientist Mother Church Picks President

BOSTON, June 8—(INS)—Mrs. Grace F. Cudworth of Boston, a native of Marquette, Mich., was named today president of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ Scientist.

Mrs. Cudworth's appointment was announced by the Christian Science board of directors at the annual meeting of the Mother Church, attended by 7,500 Christian Scientists from throughout the world. The term of office is one year.

She has been an active Christian Scientist for almost 50 years and has been a Christian Science practitioner in Boston for more than 40 years. She was a wartime Christian Science worker at the Portsmouth, N. H., naval prison.

Yeggs Take $1,300 in Raid

MOULTRIE, June 8—(AP)—Safecrackers working with hand tools broke into a safe at the Colquitt County REA office during the week end and stole $1,360 in cash and about $2,000 in checks.

J. R. Grogan, an employee of the office, found the vault door broken open and the rifled safe in the middle of the room. There was no evidence of an explosion, leading to belief the thieves worked with chisels and heavy hammers to knock off the combination.

Cuba Embassy Glows

HAVANA, Cuba, June 8—(AP)—The U. S. Embassy opened for business today in a shiny new building that cost 1½ million dollars. The modernistic structure on Havana's Marine Drive, the Malecon, resembles the UN Secretariat Building in New York.

FIRST TIME OFFERED INDESCRIBABLE
WE DON'T believe anyone has a fair command of sufficient adjectives to properly describe this new home of pleasing architecture. It has everything you could possibly wish for in a fine home, including AIR CONDITIONING. Of course, it is located among some of our finest homes, on a gorgeous lot. Built like a FORT by one of Atlanta's outstanding builders. All rooms are spacious. 3 bedrooms, a den furnished as you may have never seen before; 3½ baths and the 4th in basement for servants. Very fine game room with fireplace. We say again, it is INDESCRIBABLE, and no better workmanship or material can be had. If you were asked what price home it is, you would no doubt say $100,000, but it can be bought for much less. It will really be a pleasure to show it to you. Call Sam Tomlin, res., AT. 4792; ofc., EX. 4636.

CHEVROLET

OUR specialty is used Chevrolet passenger cars and by reason of being Chevrolet dealers we get first choice of clean trade-ins on new Chevrolets. Many of our trade-ins are almost new cars and we offer a good variety of Chevrolets, including most body styles in 1953 models. In addition, we have a good selection of other makes and models to select from.

A Rhyme a Day

"The coronation, witnessed by millions in person and on television, made the world feel akin to the British people and the royal family."—Editorial quote.

I thought, the other afternoon . . . while witnessing the coronation . . . "how soon, indeed how very soon . . . the glory, pomp, the celebration . . . the scepter, sword, the crown and all . . . that queens desire or subjects cherish . . . change into nothingness or fall . . . beside the trails of time and perish."

And then another thought arose . . . "a person can be just so happy . . . young people with their belles and beaux . . . or children frolicking with pappy . . . and married couples who have found . . . a pleasant way of life together . . . or neighborhoods with people bound . . . in harmony with friendship's tether."

A lot of vagrant thoughts, no doubt . . . but that's the way the mind will wander . . . and meditate and dream about . . . what lies beyond the "wild blue yonder" . . . the mysteries we cannot plumb . . . the things we have no way of seeing . . . and still it's nice to be a dumb . . . and ordinary human-being.

To find what happiness you can . . . in sun-lit paths or valleys shady . . . to strive to be a gentleman . . . or, in some cases, be a lady . . . finding the blessings manifold . . . in romance, friendship, love parental . . . (well, maybe I am getting old . . . and just a little sentimental).

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VanDELLEN

Allergy Is Often A Household Affair

Heredity plays an important role in allergy. In a household where the mother or father suffers from hay fever, asthma, or another classical allergy, it is unusual for the children to escape some form of the disorder.

Allergies generally follow a definite pattern in childhood. Colic is one of the earliest manifestations, with eczema as a runnerup. Colic disappears as a rule after a few months but eczema may persist for several years.

These conditions will subside without treatment or persist until the offending agents are eradicated from the diet.

After the age of 2, there is a decrease in skin and gastro-intestinal tract symptoms. Instead, the respiratory tract bears the brunt, with frequent attacks of sneezing or coughing, more colds, ear symptoms, or asthma.

Hay fever resulting from pollen sensitivity is not common at this early age but through the next five to 10 years the number of hay fever cases increases. The incidence of asthma rises also, particularly when there is continued exposure to the agents to which the individuals are destined to become sensitive.

The ideal way is to start early in life by withholding certain foods, minimizing infections, and stripping the home of allergens. It is better to concentrate on the child's room because the majority spend approximately 12 hours here and the remainder of the time they are out of doors, at school, or in other parts of the house.

Wool rugs, feather pillows, cotton mattresses, heavy draperies, and fuzzy toys are to be omitted. If the youngster is used to a pillow, foam rubber may be substituted for feathers and the mattress can be encased in plastic material. Pets should have no place in these homes; animal dander as well as feathers from ducks, chickens and pigeons are potential trouble makers.

In the allergic household, it is advisable to watch the meals carefully and add new foods cautiously. Children with a tendency toward respiratory allergies also are affected by temperature changes and low humidity.

Infections have an adverse effect on these boys and girls, particularly in the fall and winter. Prompt treatment will save wear and tear on the same respiratory membranes that are fated to be involved in the future.

YOUR MIND'S MIRROR

By JOSEPH WHITNEY Consultant

Is "acrophobia" the fear of falling?

Answer: No, acrophobia is the fear of high places and most of us have it to a certain degree. It is a fear of jumping rather than falling, and is an acquired neurosis. Psychologists have demonstrated that babies do not fear high elevations, presumably because they have no fear of jumping. Freud claimed that everyone had an unconscious wish for death, even while fearing it, and that acrophobia was nature's method of keeping temptation out of our way.

Can disappointment in love affect your health?

Answer: Yes; sometimes to a great degree. Dr. Hans Siedek, Vienna, says being jilted can cause you to lose weight, because the mental depression that follows being "jilted" often affects the glands that control weight. Statistics indicate that an unhappy marriage may even shorten your life. A recent survey showed the mortality rate of divorced men to be twice that of married men. Divorced women have only a slightly better expectancy than their divorced husbands.

Should "stuttering" be discouraged?

Answer: No! According to Dr. W. W. Bauer, health columnist, "stuttering within reason is a normal way of speaking, as long as nobody worries about it." All too often when a child hesitates or repeats himself, we call it sharply to his attention. If this continues, he or she becomes self-conscious, then apprehensive, and then starts stuttering in earnest. Mild instances of stuttering should be overlooked, because it comes within the range of normal speech, and can be cured with tact.

Berle Salutes Margaret, Ezio Pinza

Margaret Truman, soprano, and Ezio Pinza, basso, will be guests of Milton Berle at 7 p. m. Tuesday night (WSB-TV), when the pioneer TV personality celebrates his fifth anniversary as impresario of the Texaco Star Theater.

Appearing with Miss Truman and Pinza will be Gertrude (The Goldbergs) Berg and the program's regulars—Bobby Sherwood, Ruthie Gilbert and Jimmy Nelson.

Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech and Wally Butts of the University of Georgia, the state's gridiron rivals, will tell about the annual state all-star high school baseball game for the Lighthouse for the Blind over the Mary Moore Shopping Atlanta Show at 3 p. m. (WLW-A). Butts will handle the North Georgia team and Dodd will manage the South Georgia boys in Friday night's contest at Ponce de Leon Park.

Wally Butts Bobby Dodd

Fitch will be Bob Van Camp's special guest on Apartment 2 at 11 a. m. (WSB-TV). Miss Fitch and Bob will discuss the forthcoming visit of Clarabell, the clown of the Howdy Doody show, who will appear here this week end.

Robert Gunderson, who has been blind since birth, will be the guest of Betty Furness at 10:15 a. m. (WAGA-TV).

For sports fans tonight, WLW-A offers a middleweight fight at 8 p. m. between Jimmy (Golden Boy) Herring of New York, a 22-year-old with 52 victories out of 67 professional contests, and Sal DiMartino of Hartford, Conn., who has won 38 out of 54 starts.

Not to be outdone, Comic Garry Moore is bringing billiard expert Willie Mosconi to entertain his fans with a few trick pocket shots at 12:30 p. m. (WAGA-TV).

Top dramatic shows tonight are the Sky Theater's "Missing Corpse" with J. Edward Bromberg and Isabel Randolph at 11 p. m. (WLW-A); and the Fireside Theater's "The Deauville Bracelet," a story of a matron's addiction to gambling, at 8 p. m. (WSB-TV).

1 diamond	Pass	1 spade	Pass
3 clubs	Pass	3 hearts	Pass
4 spades	Pass	5 clubs	Pass
5 hearts	Pass	6 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Jack of spades.

To bid a slam with a nine high suit requires not only close attention to the bidding but implicit faith in partner. Then, too, a steady set of fingers is frequently an essential part of the equipment. Witness today's performance.

North opened with one diamond. It will be noted that while the hand has appropriate distribution, it is too strong for an opening bid of one no trump. It possesses a point count of 21, which makes it just a little short of a standard two no trump opening. The compromise suit bid should be made in those cases. When South responded with one spade, bright things loomed on the horizon, and North made the game forcing jump shift of three clubs. The alternate rebid would be a jump to three no trump, showing a balanced hand with a point count of about 21.

South showed his second suit, and North now jumped to four spades. Such action almost invariably denotes a four card trump holding, but in this case North felt it was imperative to take this drastic action for the purpose of relieving partner's probable anxiety about the texture of the trump suit. In the face of this strong bidding, South was justified in showing the king of hearts. (While all this cue bidding was taking place, it was naturally presumed from North's jump in spades that that suit would be the final trump.)

That was all the information that South required and he promptly contracted for slam, reasoning that only one trick would be lost and that in either spades or diamonds.

The jack of trumps was opened and three rounds were taken. South gave himself three chances to make the hand. He first tried the diamonds, leading the ten. If West turned up with the ace, his troubles would be over. But the queen went to East's ace, and a club was returned. He then tried for a heart break, which failed to come off.

As a last resort, declarer finessed the nine of diamonds in dummy and obtained a discard for the losing heart.

Road Safety Stressed in W.Germany

By KEELER McCARTNEY

Highway safety is the national theme in western Germany now that peacetime production for the first time in many years has enabled the average family to own an automobile, Hanns Rode. economic adviser to the German consulate here, said Monday.

Rode exhibited a West German postage stamp which carries the picture of a weeping mother holding in her arms a young son who has been struck by a car. Over the picture is the caption "Prevent Traffic Accidents."

Although traffic conditions in western Germany are bad enough to draw national attention, they still have not reached the level in the United States, Rode said. He pointed out in his country only one person in 50 has a car while in this country one person in every three owns an automobile.

SUPER HIGHWAYS

The four-lane super highways which were started in 1935 link every major German city, Rode said. He added outside of the super highway network, the German roads are inferior to those found in the United States.

Speed limits on the super highways average 50 miles per hour and the enforcement is rigid, Rode related. He said limits in even small cities are generally 20 miles per hour.

German autos are much smaller than those in America, he pointed out. He said the average German car is powered with a 24 or 42 horsepower engine, whereas in the United States a 200-horsepower auto is not an unusual sight.

PARKING PROBLEM

Parking also is rapidly becoming a great problem in the larger cities, Rode said.

"In 1950 before I came to this country, it was not unusual to drive to the center of an industrial city such as Frankfurt and find a parking place," he said. "Now I understand it is almost as difficult to find a parking place there as it is in Atlanta."

American drivers — especially women — create traffic hazards here by popping suddenly from driveways, Rode said. He added that this practice is considered one of the worst traffic offenses in western Germany and is punished as such.

Drunk drivers, he said get prison terms.

There is little argument over the payment of traffic fines in Germany, Rode pointed out. He said when a traffic officers stops an offender, he collects the money for most minor offenses on the spot and hands the violator a receipt for the amount of the fine instead of a traffic ticket.

McCARTNEY RECEIVES AWARD—Keeler McCartney (left), Constitution reporter, receives the Georgia Motor Trucking Association award for 1953 for his series "Murder on Georgia Highways" and "Death on Atlanta Streets." Danny Boggs, executive vice-president of GMTA, made the presentation. McCartney's series was voted as contributing most during the year towards highway safety.

House Passes Davis' Bill

Constitution Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, June 8 — The House today passed Rep. James C. Davis' bill calling for a tightening up of the criminal laws of the District of Columbia.

Described as an "omnibus crime bill," the proposal was prepared by the Decatur Congressman after extensive hearings by a congressional crime investigating committee which he headed in the last session.

It provides mandatory minimum sentence for five major crimes of violence, with no probation or suspension of sentence permitted by the courts.

Representative Davis, a former superior court jurist, was inspired to seek a general reorganization of criminal statutes in the District by the study made by his committee. The bill, which had been reported favorably by a joint Senate and House committee, goes to the Senate for final action.
